ARMY SUPPLY BILL PASSED

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(UP)—The House today passed and sent to the Senate the $499,857,936 war department appropriation bill, the largest supply bill for the military establishment since World War days.

The House approved the bill as the Senate debated a $358,000,000 emergency defense program to increase the army air corps to 6,000 planes. The regular war department measure carried funds for building 784 new airplanes.

Voice Vote
The bill was approved by a voice vote to the house with few members on the floor. Chairman J. Buell Snyder, D., Pa., of the appropriations subcommittee which handled the measure announced it was the first war department bill in 150 years to be approved by the House without a single amendment.

The supply bill was the third defense measure to be approved by the House this session. The chamber has already approved the $358,000,000 airplane bill and a $49,000,000 measure authorizing 10 new naval air bases.

Raps Attaches
Rep. Ross Collins, D., Miss., charged that American military attaches have been "asleep on the job" while one foreign nation allegedly has built an air force almost equal to the combined fleets of all the other great world powers.

Collins, speaking on the $499,857,936 war department appropriation bill, did not name the nation, but it was apparent that he meant Germany. He said that less than a year ago the intelligence reports gave no indication of such an alignment of air power.

"In God's name," said Collins, "what have these attaches been doing if in the space of less than 12 months, unbeknown to them, a complete reversal of the picture has taken place and one power, which ranked below Russia and Italy in the confidential report to which I refer is now represented to have a force the equal of almost the combined forces of all of the other large powers of the world?"

Collins said he was "disposed to doubt" the accuracy of the reports of foreign air strength. "I have a suspicion that some propagandist in the aviation industry is back of all this urge to build up a vast air force."

Court Upholds Death Sentences

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—(UP)—Death sentences of two convicted murderers were upheld today in rulings announced by the California supreme court on automatic appeals.

The court overruled the appeal of Charles A. McLachlan, who attacked and killed six-year old Jennie Moreno in the Los Angeles area last April 14. McLachlan had pleaded insanity.

The court turned down the plea of William Green, convicted in Fresno of the slaying of George W. Leek near a hobo jungle. Green appealed on assignment of error in the judge's instructions to the jury and on insufficient evidence.

State Leads In Wine Production

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—(UP)—A copyrighted survey by the wine institute contained tables today showing California produced nearly 90 per cent of the wine made in the United States last year.

The institute estimated United States consumption of all wines, domestic and imported, at 66,000,000 gallons during 1938, of which 55,000,000 gallons were marketed as California wine. In addition, California wines were used as blends in other domestic wines.

California, the survey showed, indicated a marked preference for state grown wines, consuming 19,000,000 gallons of the California product and 1,000,000 gallons of other wines.

Fast "Unto Death" Started By Gandhi

RAJKOT, India, March 3.—(UP)—Mahatma Gandhi began a fast "unto death" at noon today because the Thakore, the ruler of Rajkot state, had broken a promise to inaugurate social reforms.

The aging Indian ascetic and leader of India's depressed millions, appeared ill fit for another of his famous fasts, and his followers were alarmed that this one would kill him.

At noon today he said special prayers and began his fast. Physicians had examined him and pronounced him unfit for such an ordeal.

He had eaten last at dusk yesterday when he had one of his usual frugal repasts—grapes, oranges, pomegranates, and goat's milk.

Absolutely unperturbed, Gandhi told the United Press: "Even if it means the loss of my life, which, after all, at the age of 70 years has no insurance value, I should be most willing to give it in order to secure the due performance of a sacred promise. God gave me this remedy to end the agony of the Rajkot subjects. The decision has cost me a night's rest."

Last December, the 30-year-old Thakore signed a pledge to give his subjects the widest powers under a government responsible to them. Gandhi, whose father was once prime minister of Rajkot state, pleaded with the Thakore last week to abide by his promise. The Thakore, it was reported, received his plea contemptuously.

The United Press correspondent found the Thakore sipping wine with his brother princes. He seemed unconcerned by Gandhi's fast, an instrument which in the past has deeply moved his millions of followers. He said he intended writing Gandhi to request time to consider the reforms.

"OLD SEA DOG" CREW OF 132 REFUSE TO QUIT SINKING SHIP

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, March 3.—(UP)—A tough old sea dog and 132 men of his crew refused to give up their sinking ship today and while a gale whistled through her shrouds and seas broke over her decks and thick coatings of ice grew thicker on her superstructure, they bailed her holds with buckets, tubs and cooking utensils.

Within sight on the heaving sea some 15 miles from this harbor, was the rescue ship, the British freighter Newfoundland. At dawn, her master planned to insist that Captain John Badcock, master of the little, 68-year-old sailing ship, The Ranger, order his men off and abandon his vessel to the sea.

But if Badcock refuses, the Newfoundland will put another line aboard and try again to tow her into the safety of this port. The Newfoundland towed her almost all of yesterday while the crew kept her afloat with furious bailing, but the hauser snapped last night when the strong wind rose to gale force, kicking up a dangerous sea.

Men Exhausted
Captain Badcock and his men were exhausted almost beyond endurance. Since Wednesday at sea.

OLSON FIGHTS FOR PASSAGE OF $63,900,000 TAX PLAN

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 3.—(UP)—Gov. Culbert L. Olson continued his personal drive for legislative enactment of his $63,900,000 revenue program for 1939-41, with arguments for a two per cent levy on value of production of oil and gas, estimated to yield $12,000,000.

Dissatisfied with publicity given his revenue proposals before a week-long hearing conducted by the joint legislative committee on revenue and taxation, the governor decided to make a series of personal statements on his program.

Luxury Tax
The opening gun in what is expected to be a long battle on the subject of economy blocs in the senate and assembly, was fired by the governor yesterday, when he declared the administration wants new revenue on the basis of ability to pay. He said he considered liquor a non-essential luxury and insisted it should bear part of the tax increase.

Arguments by opponents of the proposed severance tax on oil and gas were heard by the revenue and taxation last week, but the hearing was rescheduled for this week due to conflicts with other committees at the same time. Representatives of large and small oil producers and distributors at that time declared the tax was discriminatory and declared it would force thousands of marginal low-profit operators out of the field.

Opposes Plan
Spokesmen for brewers, brewery workers, distillers and liquor distributors concluded their presentation against increase in alcoholic beverage taxes late yesterday. James G. Hamilton, secretary of the brewers' institute, declared that wage scales and working conditions were higher in the California brewing industry than in any other state, with one exception.

Starts Fast

A fast "unto death" was the vow taken today by Mahatma Gandhi, today, because the ruler of Rajkot state had broken a promise to inaugurate social reforms. The frail, 70-year-old leader of India's depressed millions was pronounced physically unfit for such an ordeal and it was feared that the fast may result in death.

NEW LABOR WAR LOOMS

WESTWOOD, March 3.—(UP)—Their union headquarters torn down and broken to splinters, Congress of Industrial Organizations unionists appealed to the state today for protection in another threatened "purge" at this strife-torn lumber town.

Lt. Col. Arthur Henderson, personal emissary of Gov. Culbert L. Olson, was ordered here after an outbreak of fist fighting between husky lumberjacks and mill workers representing CIO forces and American Federation of Labor members at the huge Red River lumber company plant.

"Under Control"
Following conferences with city and county authorities, Col. Henderson announced the "situation is under control." He said his preliminary investigation indicated "outsiders" had precipitated yesterday's and last night's violence.

It was reported CIO men, fearing for their lives had armed themselves inside their residences waiting for expected attacks and a possible repetition of last summer's action by townspeople in driving them out of the city.

Gov. Olson also reported receiving word that a new "purge" was planned but Henderson said tension had eased somewhat. "In my opinion," he said, "there will be no outbreak like last summer's."

Fists Fly
Henderson's arrival on the scene coincided with the arrival of state highway patrolmen from neighboring counties and followed an outbreak of sporadic fighting between rival unionists. Fighting became general after a court hearing in which Earl Shannon, business agent of an AFL union which was an independent group last summer, was arraigned on charges of assault and battery.

CIO RENEWS FIGHT AT SHASTA PROJECT

REDDING, Cal., March 3.—(UP)—Women and children, dependents of 52 imprisoned Congress of Industrial Organization pickets, assumed the offensive today as the union renewed its week-long defiance of a paralyzing Shasta county ordinance forbidding picketing of all forms.

The dependent families, according to Vern Smith, CIO public relations director, planned to go to Redding State Relief Administration headquarters in an appeal for food. Three spokesmen, each prepared to ask aid for 20 persons, were chosen to accompany them. They were Mrs. R. D. McGuffey, Harold Davies and Sam Grimm.

Harass Officials
At the same time, the jailed unionists were to appear before Justice of the Peace R. P. Stimmel on charges of violating the ordinance by persisting in patrolling a Shasta dam work project manned by American Federation of Labor workmen under contract to the United Concrete Pipe company of Los Angeles.

Another strategy designed further to harass Sheriff W. W. Sublett and District Attorney L. W. Carr was simultaneous re-establishment of the picket line at Delta, scene of a five-weeks-old interunion dispute, after brief capitulation yesterday to draft plans for what appeared a showdown for the beleaguered union.

Sheriff Stands Pat
The women and children dependents of the CIO prisoners, according to early plans, were to leave their Central Valley headquarters today in time to reach Redding at about the same time the accused ordinance violators were scheduled to appear in court.

County authorities, however, stood their ground and refused to yield to the challenge. De-

Firemen Injured Battling Blaze

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—(UP)—Fire swept through the hold of the barge Iriquo while it was moored at pier 31 today. Two firemen were injured and others were endangered fighting the blaze, which apparently started from a leaky oil line.

Capt. John Pruyn was dragged unconscious from the burning hold, Fireman Raymond Martin, 31, suffered lacerations on the hand.

Unable to reach the blaze, Chief Charles Brennan sent out special calls for air compressors as firemen cut their way through the deck with air hammers. Flames shot through the boat's cabin and for a time threatening to spread to the heavily stocked Luckenbach pier.

Writer Says Hitler Dead

BULLETIN
BERLIN, March 3.—(UP)—An official spokesman, asked today to comment on "The Strange Death of Adolf Hitler" said:
"The story is so ridiculous that it is beyond our dignity to deny it or give any kind of reaction."

NEW YORK, March 3.—(UP)
A fantastic rumor going around Europe that Adolf Hitler is dead appears in book form today with publication of "The Strange Death of Adolf Hitler."

Although evidence to support the rumor is entirely lacking, the Macaulay Co., publishers of the book, assert in a foreword that the manuscript came from reliable sources and that they made an effort to check its authenticity—presumably without definite results.

"Impersonator"
The volume is anonymous but the publishers state that it is the translation of a manuscript written by "Maximilian Bauer", described as a soldier of fortune

WORK STARTS SOON ON $145,000 SPAN

Construction of a new $145,000 span bridge across the Santa Ana river at Santa Ana toward will begin shortly as result of the bid awarded to Mitty Brothers Construction company, of Los Angeles, by the state department of public works, yesterday. Mitty's low bid was $106,305 for the bridge construction alone.

According to City Engineer J. L. McBride, the bid winner, one of 17 companies to submit bids, has from 10 to 15 days to start the job but probably will start at once. The bridge will be finished in approximately five months, according to plans. Roadway approaches will be constructed by another firm which does that type of work. Bids for the roadway job will be opened later.

Other Bids
Cost of the project is divided approximately as follows: From the first quarter-cent gasoline tax allocated to Santa Ana for state highway projects, $54,750; from state highway gasoline tax funds, $25,000, and from PWA funds, granted to the city, $65,250.

The department of public works awarded two other bids yesterday, one for construction of a $17,978 bridge across a wash approximately one and one-half miles west of the end of Sixth street, Corona, between Corona and the Orange county-Riverside county line, in Santa Ana canyon, according to County Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson. The canyon bridge is necessary because of the change in the highway routing. While the highway routing was to be changed regardless of the Prado dam construction, and the bridge would have been built anyway, the Prado dam project did cause engineers to change their original plans, Thompson said. V. R. Dennis company, San Diego, will do the job. The third bid awarded, for $2921, to Matich Brothers, Elsinore, is for building a cut-off wall on State Highway 61, near Cajon.

Seek To Halt Migrant Influx

MODESTO, Cal., March 3.—(UP)—Proposals to lower relief benefits and to place a federal ban on interstate migration of persons afflicted with physical or mental ailments were the principal features of a program advanced today to halt the influx of migrants into California.

Drafted by supervisors of eight California counties at a conference here, the proposals must be put into effect immediately to save the state from bankruptcy, the officials warned.

Asserting that the monthly influx of 3500 to 7000 migrants is "creating a crisis," the group urged all forces, public and private, in metropolitan and rural areas, to come to its aid in pushing remedial steps through Congress.

FREEZING WEATHER DELAYS SEARCH FOR FIRE VICTIMS

HALIFAX, N. S., March 3.—(UP)—Freezing weather, which turned the water soaked ruins of the fire destroyed Queen hotel into ice, interrupted the search for bodies today as authorities started investigations of the city's worst disaster in 20 years.

ORANGE JUICE FROM TUSTIN WINS PRAISE

Highest praise for the quality of Orange county orange juice was received here today from William Allen White, dean of editors and editor of the Emporia (Kansas) Gazette, and connoisseur of orange juice, who declared that the juice he drank here "was the best of all."

A visitor in California recently, White attracted state-wide attention when he criticized the state for not making orange juice available to visitors at small cost.

Gets His Wish
While driving through Orange county he stopped at the service station of Arthur O. Park, near Tustin, and had a large glass of juice. Park challenged his statements that "you can't get a good glass of orange juice cheap" and struck up a correspondence with the editor.

Today Park received a letter which said in part:
"The memory of that glass of orange juice lingers yet. I must have absorbed enough orange juice to float a battleship and your (Park's) glass was by odds the best of all. It was good to meet you, a fellow Kansan, in that far land."

Work To Start On Fullerton P. O.

George Goedhart, San Diego contractor and successful bidder for construction of a new postoffice at Fullerton, said today that he expected to break ground on the project in about ten days, according to a dispatch from San Diego.

Goedhart's low bid of $54,950 was accepted by the treasury department who awarded him the contract yesterday.

The San Diego contractor said he expected to employ about 50 men during the 210 days allotted for completion of the project.

Seek Slaver Of 13-Year-Old Girl

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 3.—(UP)—Police today investigated the theory that the slayer of 13-year-old Haselton Black, popular junior high school student, killed her because she recognized him.

Capt. Mickey Ryan of the Oklahoma City detectives said he believed it probable that the girl identified the intruder who entered her home yesterday, and that he clubbed her to death to keep her silent.

APPEAL IS BROADCAST

VATICAN CITY, March 3.—(UP)—Pope Pius XII, assuming his duties as leader of the Catholic church, broadcast to the world today a plea for peace and good will among nations.

Speaking from the Sistine Chapel in which he was elected the 262d Pope only yesterday in succession to Pius XI, the new Pope said:

"Peace means mutual understanding and cordial collaboration in the great human family for true progress and civilization. The first message of the successor to St. Peter can not be anything else but a message of peace, of that peace with which the Almighty rewards those who beseech, desire and prepare for peace with a pure heart..."

Truants Benediction
"We hope for peace, for that peace for which our predecessor prayed and for which he offered his life to God."

Pope Pius had authorized only a short time before the announcement that he would broadcast to the world. He spoke after a service in which the College of Cardinals rendered him the third and final act of homage consequent on his election. At the end of his six-minute speech, which he delivered in Latin in a clear, resonant voice that told of his physical well being, he imparted to the world his apostolic benediction.

It had been forecast, when he was elected, that the new Pope's reign would be one dedicated to world pacification. He mentioned world peace three times during his brief speech.

Blesses Non-Catholics
He began his message by expressing the profundity of his feeling at having been chosen Supreme Pontiff. After having made his reference to peace, he said:

"We also address ourselves to non-Catholics, whom we desire to let know that in this solemn hour of our life we hope God will send them every aid." At another point he said: "Especially to those who suffer we implore peace and supreme solace."

Before the service of homage, the Pope had approved Sunday, March 12, as his coronation day. He was preparing to name his secretary of state, a secretary who was to be his own successor in conducting the Vatican's diplomatic relations with the governments of the temporal world.

Speaks Fluently
That the new Pope assumed his duties as the spiritual leader of 332,000,000 Catholics with a clear vision of the difficulties before him, was shown in his speech. He alluded to the delicate situation which existed throughout the world.

The brief speech was especially significant to his hearers because of his promptness in delivering his first message to the world and because he made world peace and good will his keynote.

It was noted particularly that the new Pope spoke fluently, in a clear, strong voice, in contrast to the weaker voice and more hesitant manner of his predecessor.

Ann Hewitt Drops Plan To Marry

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—(UP)—Friends revealed today that the contemplated second marriage of Ann Cooper Hewitt, wealthy heiress in the estate of the inventor and philanthropist, Peter Cooper Hewitt, was definitely off.

The 23-year-old "Poor Little Rich Girl" left here several months ago after suing Ronald Gay, Oakland garageman, for divorce. Her companion was Gene Gradstreet, ex-bar steward of the Army and Navy Club in the Fairmont Hotel.

Gradstreet at the time made no secret of the fact he was accompanying the young heiress east to win parental blessing of their contemplated marriage as soon as the divorce from Gay was obtained.

BICYCLE RIDER KILLED

The Hollister and Hays bills exempting existing school buses from new regulations. The Phillips bill, extending the period for continuing contracts for pupil transportation.

RANCHERS R A P NEW MEASURES

Directors of the Orange County Farm bureau yesterday went on record as opposed to bills introduced in the assembly and senate setting up licenses and regulations for all persons engaged in operating stationary engines.

Directors expressed the opinion the measures would be detrimental to Orange county because of the large number of pumping units and other agricultural equipment in operation here.

Support was voted the so-called farmer's lien bill which places the farm producer on an equal footing with labor in liens on processed or manufactured articles produced from his crop.

Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg cited figures on cost of production for citrus, stating that a grower must have production well above average if he is to make a living on 10 acres under price levels of the past few years.

Announcement was made by Mrs. H. T. Gardner, chairman of the home department, that a new unit is being formed in the Yorba Linda district. The annual women's camp was announced for the last week in June at Forest Home. The Cypress-Magnolia home department served luncheon at noon, with Mrs. R. K. Kennedy in charge.

Testimony presented at the hearings here will be considered by the state director of agriculture in Sacramento in setting the milk prices for this area.

On report of Officer Ralph Pantuso, stationed at Fourth and Main streets yesterday afternoon, other officers today sought for questioning, two Mexican men seen driving northerly on Main street and hauling several sacks of what appeared to be marihuana in the rear of the car. Police throughout the county were asked to assist in the investigation.

At request of R. J. Tibbets, 2073 Bush street, Santa Ana police agreed to patrol the area near his home frequently in an attempt to arrest prowlers. Tibbets told the officers prowlers appeared at his place on two recent nights between 2 and 4 a. m.

Public-spirited Matt Lujan, unofficial mayor of Delhi, got his name on a police report last night when he sought to do the city a "good turn." H. L. Catherman, 2066 Standard street, saw a man stop his car at South Main and Anahurst, about 8:15 p. m. and take some lanterns which had been placed there. Before police could investigate, Lujan appeared at police headquarters with the lanterns which had been broken and were leaking kerosene. "I just thought the city would like to know the lanterns needed repair," Lujan said. Catherman, also public-spirited, had taken Lujan's car license number, thinking the lanterns were being stolen.

Calaway is booked at county jail on a burglary charge.

DONALD D. HARWOOD SEEKS CITY OFFICE

Donald D. Harwood, local attorney, today formally announced his candidacy for the office of judge of the city court in the April 10th municipal election.

He has made his home here for the past 19 years and points with pride to the fact that he attended and graduated from the Santa Ana public schools and received his subsequent law training at the University of Southern California Law School from which he graduated with honors. He was admitted to the bar and licensed to practice in all the courts of California in 1933. He has been actively engaged in the general practice of civil, criminal and municipal law in Santa Ana since that time.

"In announcing my candidacy for the office of city judge, I wish to say that I have entered the race because I desire to be elected. I firmly believe that I am eligible for the office because I am at the right age, not too young nor too old, to administer the duties of the office with efficiency and progressiveness. I will be 30 years of age on my next birthday. I have been a resident of Santa Ana for the past 19 years. Naturally my greatest interest is in the growth and improvement of my home city and in the welfare, security and happiness of its people. I pledge myself to support any project instituted for those purposes. I further pledge my whole-hearted cooperation at all times with civil and law enforcement agencies of our city, our county and the state government."

Runs for Office

Board Aspirant

GUY J. GILBERT

GILBERT IN RACE FOR POST ON BOARD

Guy J. Gilbert, Santa Ana insurance man, today announced himself as a candidate for the board of education at the April 10 municipal and board of education election.

"In permitting my name to be placed on the ballot as a candidate for the board of education I recognize the fact that there comes to me no remuneration unless it be that of attempting to do my duty as a citizen," he stated.

"It is not unlikely that criticism will come regarding some of the actions of the newly elected board regardless of its personnel, but there comes a certain amount of satisfaction in the thought that one has attempted, at all times, to render the best possible service to the citizens and youth of our growing city."

ACTS TO HALT ALIEN ENTRIES

The Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce acted today to assist in halting entry of undesirable residents into this state, which is already overburdened with destitute families.

At a meeting of the local chamber's board of directors yesterday, the executive committee was authorized to draft a letter which will be sent to representatives of Orange county in the state legislature, and which will support A. B. 1356.

Introduced By Houser

The measure referred to is an act to prevent the entry into the state of California of paupers, vagabonds and fugitives from justice, providing for enforcement of the act and prescribing penalties for violations. The act was introduced by Assemblyman Fred Houser.

A letter from President James L. Beebe of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to the Santa Ana chamber asked for support of the measure. In his letter, Beebe said:

Cost of Relief
"It is generally conceded that one of the principal factors in the imposition upon the people of California is the cost of furnishing relief to those who have come into this state from other states and have become charges upon the taxpayers of California."

"The influx of these non-residents undoubtedly has thrown some of our citizens out of employment and has prevented others of our citizens from finding suitable employment. California labor has been injured by the competition of these non-resident indigents."

Familiar With Need
"We believe that this bill should be given careful consideration by the various chambers of commerce in the state, to the end that the representatives in your locality be thoroughly familiar with the need for some restrictions against this influx." The board of supervisors this week adopted a resolution seeking to stem the tide of indigents flowing into California to share in general relief benefits.

DAR Chapter In Laguna Planned

LAGUNA BEACH, March 3.—Formation of a chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution looms as the result of an announcement made by Mrs. Minnie W. Hevener, wife of Frank D. Hevener, manager of the local branch, Bank of America. Mrs. Hevener recently returned from a sojourn in Los Angeles, where she was guest of Mrs. Wesley Jameson, of St. Paul, Minnesota, honorary recent for the D.A.R. in the Gopher State. Following a luncheon at the Biltmore Hotel, Mrs. Hevener was appointed organizing regent, with assignment to form a chapter of the D.A.R. in Laguna Beach. Inquiries from interested persons are sought by Mrs. Hevener, whose address is 1495 Temple Hills Drive, with telephone number, Laguna 5931.

JULIA LATHROP

P.T.A. Carnival

Come to Lathrop tonight! Bring all the family and the nickles and dimes! Come for supper of tamales, chili beans, ice cream and all the usual combinations that require time to recuperate from, but this is Lathrop's big annual P.T.A. carnival and there will be two days to get back to normal. Worlds of fun and frolic in store!

All sorts of the regular attractions will be there to furnish amusement for all ages. These concessions will be held in the Lathrop auditorium and no admission is charged to enter the big auditorium full of attractions. Students have cooperated with the P.T.A. request for toys and various kinds of trinkets for the grab bags, fish pond and all other surprise entertainments. Besides the auditorium attractions, two stage performances will be given in the smaller auditorium in the main building.

Track Season
Two district track teams are making progress in their warming up work for a fine track season this year. Although the B's have little chance due to a scarcity of sufficient material to make much showing, the C's are a promising team and will start inter-sectional meets within the next week or two. This week the C's and B's will have a run-off as a little preliminary practice. Although the B's have a few good men there is hardly enough to make a strong team. Some of those making a showing on the team so far are: Bruce Carnahan, Russel Cleary, Bob Isenor, Don Rathbone, Claud Winklepleck, Fred Williams, and Robert Villabos. Those making a representative showing on the C team include Robert Ashby, Dean Martin, Daniel Pena, Claude Winklepleck, Cecil Warner, and Charles Henry. A definite schedule of their events soon will be posted.

Last Friday the Lathrop Midget baseball team made a smashing victory of 28-6 over John Muir team. This was their final game of the season.

Champs Claim Records
Kenneth Crumley and Franklin Childs are Lathrops tennis stars in that they are playing their high school doubles and winning everything so far. We expect to hear much from these fellows from the H's single team next year.

Lathrop Jurymen Chosen
From each home room section a boy and girl were appointed to report before the student court and from this group jurymen were selected to make up the Student Body jury. Those chosen to represent the 7th grade were Roch Bradshaw and Mary Kelly; 8th graders were Billy Power and Mary Danielson; 9th graders Jim Stevens and Losena Mashburn. With the student judges Lenore Walker and Russell Cleary, these new jury members will meet each week to discuss student affairs and to try any case which comes up for their decision. This body is also ready at any time to serve wherever needed. In the past they have helped in locker inspection and various other school activities.

Observes Founders' Day
An interesting feature of the annual Founders' Day celebration held this week was the presentation of a life membership pin to Principal Nelson. This pin signifies that the Lathrop organization has paid approximately $10 into the National P.T.A. fund which is a scholarship fund for deserving students needing financial help in going through college. From this fund many Santa Ana students have been aided. They are privileged to borrow as much as $200 a year and when they have completed their college course their only obligation is to pay the amount back, in monthly installments, without interest.

LAMBS RETURN FROM DESERT TO FIND MORE USE FOR PENS

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

"Enchanted Vagabonds," the book by Mr. and Mrs. Dana Lamb that was based on their canoe trip along the Southern California and Mexican coasts and through the Panama Canal, has attracted a request for another book on the same voyage, designed to be used in high school supplementary reading, it was revealed today.

Work on this book, requested by the same publishing company, will be started at once, as will articles asked by four different magazines, the Lambs revealed.

Letter From FDR

After returning from a desert trip this week, the couple found a personal letter from President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He declared he was re-reading "Enchanted Vagabonds" with renewed interest after hearing their verbal account of some of the incidents of the book. President Roosevelt also assured the young couple of his interest in their projected trip down through the Mayan country of Central America and into Guatemala, and promised his official aid when it might be necessary. Plans for this journey will await favorable weather, as they do not wish to reach the country in its rainy season. They have the cooperation of Carnegie Institute and National Geographic society also, especially in mapping out the regions where Mayan ruins have never been excavated. They figure that the expedition will last for at least two years.

See Picture - Writing

While on the recent desert outing, the Lambs visited Red Rock canyon but spent the greater part of their time in Death Valley and exploring Pictograph canyon, between that valley and the Nevada state line. This canyon is so little known that they were unable to find its position listed on road maps, but eventually located it without too much trouble, and were well repaid for their efforts. The canyon walls are covered with the unique Indian pictures, which gives it the name, and they got many fine pictures of these characters. One that commanded their special interest depicts a battle between two Indian warriors armed with bows and arrows.

Writer Asserts Hitler Poisoned

born near Hitler's Austrian birthplace and since 1933 one of four "impersonators" of the Nazi Fuehrer.
Bauer's story is that he went to Berlin in 1933 and was arrested by German police who thought he was Hitler. His life was in danger, he asserts, until the next day when Hitler was unexpectedly made Reich Chancellor and the late Capt. Ernst Roehm, breaking in on a conference to decide Bauer's fate, was struck by his resemblance to the Fuehrer and took charge of him.
"Little Adolf"
Hitler was impressed with the resemblance which was greater than that of three other doubles, Bauer states, and called him "Little Adolf". By disguising himself, he said he served as bodyguard for the Fuehrer and, when Hitler feared assassination or was indisposed, took part in ceremonies by impersonating the Fuehrer. On some occasions he made speeches for Hitler, the book says.
On the eve of the "Big Four" conference in which Hitler, Chamberlain, Mussolini, and Daladier participated at Munich in 1938, the book says, Hitler was given a "South American poison" in his food while dining with his principal aides. The book said he tried to rise "and was almost straightened up but with his features scrunched up and his eyes so narrowed they had disappeared. Then with startling suddenness he slumped back on his chair. 'Ach,' he half groaned."
Hitler, the book continues, died a few minutes later and the Nazi leaders decided they must carry on with one of the doubles. Bauer states that he has been the principal double for the "Fuehrer" but that he fears assassination at any moment and may commit suicide.

New Labor War Threatened

Shannon pleaded not guilty on charges brought by Mrs. M. Scott of the CIO and his hearing was postponed until Monday. The justice court room was crowded with rival unionists.
As the court recessed a group of men was reported to have charged two others, one of whom fled. The other was beaten to the ground. Reinforcements arrived and groups of as many as 30 men engaged in mass fist-cuffs.
Mob CIO Office
One of the men bruised and battered in the fighting, Frank Perkins of the CIO, left for Sacramento as head of a delegation to seek state interference.
The fighting continued sporadically with the two local law enforcement officers reporting they were brushed aside and unable to stop hostilities.
Later a mob gathered outside the CIO headquarters from which 30 wives and children of CIO members were evacuated by law officers. The mob then attacked the building after first bringing down the flag above it.
The building was torn apart and all the lumber in it broken into small pieces.

WAGE LAW VIOLATOR DRAWS HEAVY FINES

BOSTON, March 3.—(UP)—Fines totaling $2000 were imposed in U. S. district court today on a Lawrence shoe firm and its treasurer who pleaded guilty to violation of the wage-hour law.
The defendants were the Gerber Shoe company and Nathan Gerber, treasurer and general manager of the 60-year-old firm, who were named in the second criminal indictment to be returned in the nation under the wage-hour law.

Four Counts
They were fined $1000 each by Federal Judge Elisha H. Brewster. Brown's Contract Stitching, Inc., also of Lawrence, with its treasurer, was fined a total of $1500 earlier this week under the first such indictment.
The charges to which the defendants pleaded guilty today were:
Failure to pay the minimum wage of 25 cents per hour.
Falsification of records.
Failure to keep true records.
Interstate shipment of goods made by underpaid employees.

CIO Renews Fight At Dam Project

spite an overcrowded jail, jammed with CIO prisoners and others, Sheriff Sublett said his men were under orders to arrest any person, CIO unionist or his wife, who attempted to join the picket line at the dam site. With reference to the 75 occupants of the jail, Sublett said the county would find a place to put any more violators.
Hurl Charges
The union yesterday issued handbills charging the contractors of the Delta railroad relocation project with using one union against the other. The handbills also declared the CIO was not an "enemy" of the AFL. They distributed the literature among AFL workmen.
Another late development was an appeal to Gov. Culbert L. Olson for a public hearing "to bring out the true facts." The appeal was signed by Shasta "labor prisoners."

New Pope In Plea for Peace

American cities, and he had visited President Roosevelt at Hyde Park. It was not so generally known that in his early manhood he nearly became professor of canonical law at the Catholic university at Washington. He was offered, and wanted to accept, this post. The Pope at the same time asked him to give his services to the church here, advising that his future lay on this side of the Atlantic.
It was known also that the new Pope was particularly eager that United States Cardinals attend his coronation. Cardinal O'Connell, Cardinal Mundelein, Archbishop of Chicago, and Cardinal Dougherty, Archbishop of Philadelphia, plan to sail for the United States in the liner Rex from Naples March 15, and it was regarded as certain that they would attend.

ACTION DELAYED ON PLAN TO BUILD $3,000,000 DIRIGIBLE

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(UP)—Navy department officials delayed action today on bids for construction of a $3,000,000 dirigible to study a last minute proposal of an engineering concern to build an all metal lighter-than-air craft.
The sponsors of the ship, the American Mechanical Engineering Company of Washington, claimed that it would revolutionize construction and operation of that type of aircraft. They said it would be "100 per cent American design and American type of construction as opposed to the Zeppelin or German type of design and construction," and would convert dirigible construction from a German fostered industry to an entirely American one.
The proposal was made in connection with the navy's opening of bids on a dirigible yesterday. Naval officials said the proposal did not constitute a formal bid, not being accompanied by a certified check or deposit to guarantee good faith of the bidder, but that it would be studied carefully.
The proposal described the ship it would furnish as "all metal, corrugated, single compartment, rigid both when inflated and deflated, designed for helium gas."

SOUND VIBRATIONS ENABLE BEACH DEAF MAN TO 'HEAR'

A remarkable demonstration of his ability to "hear" through the interpretation of sound vibrations was given by Kenneth Johnson, of Long Beach, yesterday at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Lions club.
Deaf since birth, Johnson has taught himself to not only "hear" but to speak in a pleasing and better-than-average voice.
Feels Vibrations
In conversation with normal persons he combines lip-reading with his uncanny sense of feeling vibrations and can carry on a conversation that cannot be distinguished from the normal. He can accurately and quickly determine what is being said by watching the movements of the speaker's throat or by feeling the vibrations of the throat.
Placing his fingers on the piano he quickly identified various melodies played by the club pianist, E. M. Sundquist. He performed the same demonstration with a small portable radio.
Rests at Seashore
In his talk before the demonstration he told the club that he is unable to rest in bed because vibrations inject themselves into his sleep and he dreams about whatever is causing the vibration. He gets his greatest rest and relaxation at the seashore where the pounding of the waves on the beach maintains a constant vibration that lulls him to sleep.
Following the demonstration by Johnson, Frank Peterson gave an illustrated lecture on the Golden Gate exposition.

S. A. BARBERS DROP PRICE ON HAIR-CUTS

More than 40 out of 51 barber shop proprietors of Santa Ana today had cut prices on hair-cuts in half to meet competition of one shop, it was learned today following a meeting last night at which principal barber shops of the city were represented.
The local barber's union suspended price regulations to assist the proprietors in their "price war," according to Al Sanford, president of the union.
Henry Johnson, secretary for the union today said that he planned to have Allan Holt, international business agent for the barbers in the city by the first of the week to assist in settling the "war." Jesse J. Kerby, who reportedly started the "war" today declared he would continue to maintain his price. His union card has been suspended.

STANDING QUIZ NOW

"Parading" down an alley at Richard and Ross on his hands and knees, a Mexican man about 21 years old was sought yesterday by police for questioning. A woman who failed to identify herself telephoned police that she couldn't explain the man's actions, thought he might be acting that way on a dare or to pay off a wager but believed he should be investigated.

"VICIOUS" MAN SOUGHT

A man transient who used "vicious" language when refused something to eat at local homes was sought without success by Officers Richard M. Bradley and Daniel M. Jones yesterday. Women reported he stopped in the 500-block of Bush and 700-block of Spurgeon. One of them said, "I didn't mind his anger but when he called me a 'blankety-blank dirty rat,' I decided he wasn't a gentleman at all."

WATCH FOR PROWLERS

Tom Ogden, 514 South Parton who reported a would-be burglar cut a hole in a screen at his home late Wednesday night, last night asked police to make a checkup at his home occasionally during the night. Police agreed to watch for prowlers in the neighborhood.

BACK PLAN TO CUT $60 HELD LIMIT ON DETRIMENTAL TAXES MONTHLY PENSIONS

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(UP)—Chairman Pat Harrison of the Senate finance committee and Chairman Robert L. Doughton of the House ways and means committee advised Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., today that they "stand ready and anxious to cooperate" in removal of any taxes acting as a deterrent to business.
The two key Congressional committee chairmen declared belief that their committees were in "heartly sympathy" with the moves toward rapprochement of business and government made by President Roosevelt, Morgenthau and Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins.
Hits Spending
The expression followed closely Harrison's announcement that he opposed continuance of the government's spending policy and lifting the legal limit on the government's public debt to $50,000,000,000.
It coincided with other business-government moves. These included:
1.—Appointment by Hopkins of Chairman Robert E. Wood of Sears, Roebuck & Co., as an adviser on business trends and liaison officer between business and government.
2.—Statement by Morgenthau before the House ways and means committee pledging that the $2,000,000,000 monetary stabilization fund will not be used to finance foreign arms purchase or to "rig" the market for government securities.

BUS LINE REVEALS RATE REDUCTIONS

Announcement of reductions in fares of the Pacific Greyhound lines throughout the state was made today by H. G. Hammond, Santa Ana agent. The tariffs, which go into effect April 1, have been filed with the California Railroad commission.
The reductions are from 10 to 20 per cent and in some instances as high as 35 per cent, according to Hammond. The new fares are not experimental but permanent reductions, it was stated.
"Pacific Greyhound is furnishing California, over its magnificent highway system, the best bus transportation, from the standpoint of frequency and convenience of schedules, superb equipment, and modern depot facilities, of any state in the union," Hammond said. "These factors, combined with the increased seating capacity of the new super-coaches, has enabled us to now pass on to the public, lower fares than have heretofore been possible."

TELLS SELF: "MOVE ON"

A man who wore a long black overcoat was holding a strange conversation with himself at 11:30 p. m. yesterday near the home of W. J. Dean, 402 East Walnut, Dean told police in asking an investigation. Officers W. E. B. Sherwood and A. F. Moulton hurried to the scene but the man had disappeared.

Olson Fights For New Tax Plan

tion, and argued that for this reason the California brewers were less able to absorb increased taxes.
Hamilton told the committee that when some other states, such as Nebraska and Oklahoma levied an extra 25 cents tax on beer they found that decreased consumption resulted in less total revenue for the state. Conversely, he said, other states, particularly Texas, reduced taxes by a similar amount and collected a large amount of money through increased consumption of beer.
He declared that the beer manufacturing business was at present in a precarious condition and estimated that only about 25 to 30 per cent of the breweries in the state are solvent.

TOASTMASTERS WILL ELECT ON MARCH 14

Cavanaugh has been in communication with Norol Evans of Orange through his short wave station and the two have become close friends. Evans acted as program chairman yesterday.

While in America Cavanaugh, for the next few weeks, will visit other friends of the air who live in Orange county, then will go to New York City and Canada, and will go from there to England to visit relatives. He plans to make the personal acquaintance of numbers of amateur radio operators on his journey which will be completed in about a year's time and during which he will cross the continent of Europe and circle the globe.

The visitor gave a talk on Australia at the club, Kellar E. Watson Jr., acting as projectionist, when motion pictures of the country were shown. Cavanaugh stated that residents of Australia would be pleased if the United States fortified Guam.

The problem of Australia, said the speaker, is one of population as there are but seven million persons on the continent which is as large as the United States. He stated that he believed that Jews of a desirable type would be permitted to settle in the country.

Another Australian problem is the continent's dependence on Great Britain for defense. If Britain became involved in a European war, the speaker said, it is believed that Australia would be left to shift for herself. Australia has no army or navy, said Cavanaugh, but is making rapid developments in air transportation. A wealth of minerals is found on the continent with large brown coal deposits and a tropical climate prevails in the north, he stated.

Fullerton Service Clubs Urge City Betterment

FOUR OBJECTIVES OUTLINED AT MEET

FULLERTON, March 3.—Four objectives on which Fullerton service clubs will unite to work for their completion, were approved for action at the second conference of the recently organized Fullerton Service club council at Kibel's cafe Tuesday night. These objectives are:

Early installation of a platform or stage at the natural "bowl" at Hillcrest park, which eventually will become a focal point for all varieties of entertainment.

Enlistment of various civic groups in the plan of establishing a "Citizenship Day" service each year at which young folks, just becoming of age, will be special guests.

City aid, if possible, to continue and enlarge the Christmas Tree Lane at Hillcrest park, the novelty inaugurated last year by the Kiwanis club.

Increasing the milk fund for underprivileged children at the grammar schools.

Present at the conference were: John L. Strickland, council president and head of the Kiwanis club; Harry Lee Wilber, secretary of the Kiwanis club; Otto Idso, president, and Carroll Christie, secretary, of Rotary club; Charles L. Ruby, program chairman of Rotary; Darrel McGavran, president, and Howard Jeffries, chairman of projects and Don Holloway, inter-club chairman of 20-30 club, and Mrs. Alice Smith, president, and Mrs. Irma Ferris, vice president, of the Fullerton Business and Professional Women's club. In addition, Harold Moore of Kiwanis, represented the Christmas tree lane project.

The matter of improving the natural bowl at Hillcrest was given major attention. The council's plan is to enlist aid from the city for the construction of a suitable large platform, at least, or the basis for a stage with surrounding seats. Later, seating accommodations can be installed for many hundreds of spectators. WPA labor might be provided, in the council's opinion.

The Citizenship Day plan would involve the designation of one day a year for a large meeting to which every boy and girl just reaching 21 years would be invited. It is the belief that this innovation would tend to make the younger folks more civic minded. Cooperation of other civic groups will be sought, if the various council clubs agree, with the Ministerial association a prime factor.

Perpetuation of the Christmas tree lane at Hillcrest park is being considered at this time, it was said, inasmuch as city aid will be sought and this must be requested before the municipal budget is framed. The idea is to extend the lighted lane each year until eventually it will trace its way across a large portion of the park. Each club membership will consider the matter this month.

Milk for underprivileged children is said to be insufficient at this time, even under present relief systems. The council voted to have each club president designate a representative to investigate the matter.

Zabel Speaker At 20-30 Club

NEWPORT BEACH, March 3.—Herman Zabel of the sheriff's office was the speaker at the Monday night dinner session of the Newport Harbor 20-30 club held at Wilson's cafe. Sheriff Jesse Elliott, also scheduled as a speaker for the evening, was prevented from attending because of unexpected business in Los Angeles.

Plans for the "Ladies' Night" meeting of March 6 will be made at an executive board meeting scheduled for this evening at the George Beddome home on the Ocean Front.

Guests at the meeting Monday were Joe McIver of Balboa and president Lee Smith and Leonard Lockhart of the Santa Ana club.

HOSTS AT DINNER

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, March 3.—Mr. and Mrs. James S. Leck entertained with a turkey dinner at their home in Coast Royal last Sunday. Those invited were Dr. and Mrs. Tom Wright of Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Rogers and daughter Phyllis, and Mr. and Mrs. Arley Leck, of Capistrano.

Opens Museum To Public

The Western Trails Museum at Liberty Park, outgrowth of a childhood hobby, is the possession of Marion Speer, collector and writer, who has graciously opened his place to the general public. To date more than 31,000 persons, mostly school children, has gone through the museum where western specimens of all kinds predominate.

WESTERN TRAILS MUSEUM IS OUTGROWTH OF CHILD'S HOBBY

LIBERTY PARK, March 3.—How childhood hobbies may influence the remainder of a person's life is revealed in the case of Marion Speer, local collector and writer, from the fact that his collection which began at the age of seven years with his interest in picking up Indian arrowheads in Texas, has grown to such proportions that a total of 37,100 people have found it worth while to visit his local Western Trails Museum during the 2 1/2 years since it was erected.

TALKS ON EUROPEAN POLITICAL PLIGHT

Presenting a discussion of the European political situation as it applies particularly to Spain, John Colwell last night won first place in the speaking contest at El Camino Toastmasters club dinner meeting in Daniger's. His conclusion was that England's diplomatic moves all tend to place England in an increasingly favorable position.

Other speakers included Glenn Woolley on "What Is Happening to Our Birth Rate?" He gave pointed observations on the lowering birth-rate in the United States, pointed out the fact that the average daily attendance in Santa Ana schools has decreased from 3500 in 1926 to 2800 in December, 1938.

Difference in Unions

Ralph Shallenberger spoke on "Labor Unions and Democracies," declaring that where labor unions thrive, democratic governments thrive. "In democracies, unions provide their own leadership," he said, "while in dictator countries, unions are government controlled, thus placing a tremendous responsibility on unions in democracies."

"There Are Two Sides to Everything" was Phil Hood's subject, a plea for more tolerance; Ted MacBird's subject, "Orange County's Greatest Expense," named as the greatest expense, the orange grower's battle against scaly bark. Don Jordan spoke on "But Do You Know What We Are Teaching?"

Sees No Communism

He took issue with criticisms leveled at our school systems, especially concerning "the too common cry of communism being taught in the schools." He denied communism is being taught in the schools.

Stan McPherrin was general critic, assisted by Dudley Morrison, Leon Lauderbach, Dr. J. M. Balpitt, Frank Harwood, Dr. A. E. Vallier, E. M. Sundquist and Arthur Powell. A speaking contest between toastmasters clubs of the county will be held in Anaheim March 20, it was announced.

Court Notes

Petition to probate the will of the late George A. Hutton, of Santa Ana, who died March 1, was filed in superior court today by his two daughters, Mrs. Marion H. Klentz and Mrs. Hattie L. Huff, of Santa Ana, who are heirs to the estate. The petition lists a ranch, a house and lot, stocks and notes, of unstated value, having an annual income estimated at $1500.

Deputy Sheriff San Jernigan has filed a petition in superior court to terminate the joint tenancy interest of his wife, the late Elizabeth Jernigan, in Santa Ana and Laguna Beach real estate, and certain bank stocks.

Superior Judge H. G. Ames today approved a compromise settlement of a damage claim for $550, for injuries received by Tetsumaro Kotake, 8, Japanese boy involved in a traffic accident at Stanton January 8. The claim was settled by S. M. Cowling, Lloyd J. Cowling and the Highway Feed store.

VOLUNTARY DEATH FUND IS APPROVED

A voluntary death benefit fund for city employees was agreed upon at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana City Employees association last night at the city hall, it was reported. Upon the death of any employee in the future, those city employees actively employed will be called upon to give $1 for the fund, the total amount to go to the deceased's relatives. No city employee will be required to pay into the fund, however, officials said.

City Atty Lew W. Blodget was featured speaker of the evening, presenting a stirring 45-minute talk on "Americanism" and the United States Constitution, according to Mrs. Gladys M. Kilkenny, secretary-treasurer of the organization. Miss Christine Nielsen, Santa Ana girl, entertained with two selected readings.

The next meeting of the association, to be held April 6 at the Charles W. Bowers Memorial museum, will be in the form of a tour of the museum. Mrs. F. E. Coulter, museum curator, will be hostess for the meeting.

Film For Youth Screens Today

Today is the last opportunity to see the special reel of "Youth Marches On," filmed under supervision of the International Oxford movement, an organization made up of people from all religious denominations of the world who advocate Bible study, it was announced.

The reel is shown as an attraction added to the regular program at Walker's theater today. It played in Alhambra recently and was well received by all interested parties according to the local theater management, and its theme and treatment are decidedly broad-minded. The picture is sponsored locally by Secretary Ralph Smedley of the Y. M. C. A. and Miss Mary Howard, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., the theater management declared.

On the same program will screen "Thanks for Everything," starring Adolphe Menjou, Jack Oakie and Arleen Whelan; "Pacific Liner," starring Victor McLaglen and Chester Morris; cartoon, and world news events. Eight acts of amateur vaudeville also have been scheduled for tonight at 8:30 o'clock as other added attractions on the bill.

STEALS IN CHURCH

Police today sought a thief who entered a church here and stole a purse belonging to Mrs. A. M. Robinson, 430 West Main, Tustin, reports filed show. Mrs. Robinson yesterday told officers she left the purse in a small room while she was listening to a speaker in another room and found the purse, containing $4 cash, driver's license, keys, church year book and personal letters missing, upon her return.

THIEF USES RUSE TO STEAL MACHINE

An alleged automobile thief who used a new approach to borrow a used car "to try it out," was sought today by Santa Ana police on complaint of owners of a local used car lot, 118 East First street, according to reports.

The suspect approached a salesman, said he wanted to take a used Cadillac "up the street" to put it on a hoist so he could examine its mechanism thoroughly to determine whether it could be made over into a truck. The man said he operates a garage in Garden Grove. The salesman later checked throughout Garden Grove but couldn't find the man or car. The man is described as 38 years old, weighing 150 pounds, being six feet tall, having brown hair and being dressed like a mechanic. The car taken is a green 1929 Cadillac sedan.

4TH AREA P.-T. A. MEETS AT CYPRESS

Instructions to local P.-T. A. presidents and chairmen on making yearly reports was the principle feature of the president's conference held yesterday at Cypress elementary school.

The Cypress glee club sang four numbers; two Negro spirituals and two modern numbers. In the afternoon the Fullerton high school and junior college provided music.

Two interesting talks were given, Mrs. Mildred Lambert speaking on Citizenship, and the importance of making citizenship more dynamic. Mrs. Lambert is director of public welfare for tenth district.

Mrs. J. B. Doyle, chairman of juvenile protection, speaking on Juvenile Protection, said in part: "Juvenile delinquency is due in a large part to the indifference and ignorance of parents. Parenthood is the most difficult profession on earth and should require the most training in preparation for it. Some specific training should be given every girl in the elementary, junior high and high schools."

Mrs. Robert Korff presided at the meeting. The Rev. D. W. Dodson led in prayer. H. D. Booth, principal of the school, extended a cordial welcome to the group and Mrs. W. E. Krupp of Fullerton, responded.

Announcement was made of the next regular district meeting which will be held in Brea on April 20. This will be a general meeting, open to the members of P.-T. A. in Orange county.

Horse races of one kind or another have been held in Livermore, England, for 400 years.

FIELD OF 18 TO START IN BIG HANDICAP

Winter Racing Makes Both Coasts Golden Coasts; Leading Contenders For $150,000

Cravat, a bay colt by Sickle, out of Frillette, by Man o'War, may be the post-time favorite in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap. He's the choice of several leading handicappers who like his ability as a stretch-runner, and his known mud-running qualities if rain comes for the Gallop Grande. Cravat, owned by Townsend B. Martin, was shipped to the coast only two weeks ago for a crack at the big purse.

Dark horse of the Santa Anita Handicap is Main Man, owned by the Hollywood movie magnate, Louis B. Mayer. Main Man has early speed to stay with the pace. Whether he can go on the mile-and-a-quarter distance of the big race remains to be seen. Main Man is a long shot, yet liked by several shrewd judges of horse flash. He has trained unusually well and comes up a fit animal.

Amor Brujo, Frexo, Olimpo, Melodist Surprise Entrants

ARCADIA—(UP)—The names of 18 thoroughbreds today were put through the entry box at Santa Anita track as probable starters tomorrow in the $100,000 added Santa Anita Handicap.

Although the experts had predicted a small field of from 13 to 15 entries, four surprise starters were named through the entry box at a cost of $250 each. An additional $750 must be paid before the horses start.

The added entries were Amor Brujo, owned by the Kozinsky brothers of Los Angeles; Raoul Walsh's French-bred Frexo; Binglin stables' Olimpo and Mrs. Emil Denmark's Melodist. Amor Brujo, Olimpo and Melodist were named in hopes of catching a muddy racing strip.

Experts both at the government weather bureau and at Caltech predicted unsettled weather, but there was a slight chance that the rain might not come until tomorrow night.

Following is the complete list of horses named through the entry box in the order of their post positions: 1—Quick Devil, 2—Thanksgiving, 3—Heelfly, 4—Specify, 5—Olimpo, 6—Jacola, 7—Main Man, 8—Sorteado, 9—Frexo, 10—Gosum, 11—Whichee, 12—Cravat, 13—War minstrel, 14—Today, 15—Melodist, 16—Amor Brujo, 17—Congressman and 18—Kayak II.

The Santa Anita starting gate has only 14 stalls, putting the last four horses outside the gate unless there are scratches at the time the starting fee is paid.

(The Santa Anita Handicap will be broadcast over a National hook-up by KFI, KJH and KNX, all beginning at 4 p. m.)

Winter's racing colossal thoroughbred extravaganza—the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap—will have its fifth running tomorrow. Packed with class, loaded with contenders keyed for their supreme effort, it should be bitterly fought every step of the mile-and-a-quarter route. It's an open race, crammed with possibilities, and half a dozen horses holding a good winning chance. Mud—and showers may fall tomorrow—or dry, the classic should be a thrilling spectacle.

There's all the factors present for stirring turf drama. Blazing speed, come-from-behinders, and horses, who have brilliant form at slightly shorter distances, but are unknown quantities at a mile-and-a-quarter.

Kayak Bats For Biscuit
Charles S. Howard's Kayak II, the brilliant Argentine 4-year-old, groomed by Trainer Tom Smith to take Seabiscuit's place as the American champion, goes into the race favorite under 110 pounds. He's battling for the "Biscuit" and it's the greatest test of his career. This marks the third time, and perhaps the charm, for Howard. Seabiscuit, lost by a nose for two straight years—first to Rosemont, then to Stagehand last year. This winter he appeared to have the race sewed up. The money-winning crown was virtually his, but fate stepped in and shelved him with an injured ankle.

Tom Smith began concentrating on Kayak last summer and he's piloted him through a spectacular campaign, winning 8 out of 11 starts. He ran the greatest race of his career two weeks ago, coming from behind to beat Specify by a nose in the San Carlos Handicap. He cracked the track record for a mile-and-a-sixteenth, set a new mark of 1:42 2/5—only two fifths off the world's record.

He has never been farther than a mile-and-a-sixteenth. He

STAGEHAND 1-2; NINE IN RACE

(The Widener Challenge Cup race will be broadcast by KFI, beginning at 1 p. m. Orange county time, and by KNX, at 1:15.)

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—Headed by H. Maxwell Howard's Stagehand, a field of nine was entered today for the fourth running of the $50,000-added Widener Challenge Cup at Hialeah park tomorrow.

Stagehand, with Jimmy Stout scheduled to ride, was top weight of the field with 126 pounds. He drew No. 5 post position and was a 1-2 favorite in the opening betting.

Others in the field are Tomara stable's Teddy Weed, 106; Marshall Field's Sir Damion, 114, and Mrs. W. P. Stewart's Pastureized, 118, which will run as an entry; W. F. Adams' Warline, 100; B. F. Whitaker's Mythical King, 111; Darby Dan farm's Francisco, 107; Calumet farm's Bull Lee, 119, and Wesley Sears farm's Xavier, 100.

The Widener distance is one mile-and-a-quarter. The event is to be run as the sixth race on an eight-race program. Post time is scheduled for about 4:45 p. m.

With no War Admiral to challenge him, Stagehand probably will pay no better than 50 cents on the dollar if he comes home in front. Of the seven probable starters the dusky son of Sickle and Stagecraft is in a class by himself, and his odds will be about 1-2 by post time for the $50,000-added purse.

The leading money-winner last year, Stagehand was a 2-1 shot before the ailing Admiral was declared out. Immediately the odds changed to 4-5, and they dropped further yesterday to 7-10. If the four-year-old wins the Widener, it will be the first time any horse has captured all three of the big winter purses. Stagehand won the $50,000 Derby and the $100,000 Handicap at Santa Anita last year.

All of the candidates concluded intensive training yesterday and will be given only the lightest workouts today.

STREAKY ATHLETE
Howard Black, Temple forward who scored in 61 straight games, also hit safely in 34 consecutive contests as the Owls' second baseman.

HAWKEYE

I give you the top o' the morning.
May you win at the races today—
The old Hawkeye light will be burning.
To show all the faithful the way!

"Not for nothing am I known as the handicapping ball of fire," chuckled the noted maestro of the turf. "Boy, I never miss," he concluded modestly.

A check-up disclosed that this was indeed so, most emphatically so, as attested by one and all. A gigantic "killing" was frustrated yesterday when his astute play, Batchelor Dinner, was scratched.

The astute play for tomorrow: One hundred coconuts to show on Cravat in sixth.

DON TRACKMEN BATTLE FROSH

Santa Ana's jaycee track team will invade Bovard field, Los Angeles, tomorrow morning for a dual meet with the U.S.C. Freshmen trackmen, coached by Eddie Leahy.

Coach John Ward and his squad will leave Santa Ana at 8:30 and the meet will start promptly at 10:30. The Trojan Frosh are reputed to have one of the strongest teams in several years but the Dons are given a chance of making a close meet of it because of superior numbers.

Tough Little Jocks Bear Down In 'Cap

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES—In a tight race bet the jocks.

That's what the regulars around a race track will tell you when the field is so good (or so bad) that there is no real difference between the horses.

It might be a wise tip for tomorrow's $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, because the withdrawal of Seabiscuit and several other top-flight runners has left the field without a single standout, proved horse. Don't let anybody tell you there is any sure bet in tomorrow's race. It is as wide open as the Barbary Coast ever was, and anything in it can win by from here to next Tuesday.

Provided he (or she) gets the right sort of ride, that is, and that is where the jocks come in. They'll be up there, gunning. And I mean really gunning, because the rider of the winner gets a cool $10,000. That sort of money isn't sneezed at, even by a Morgan or a Gould, much less by a jockey who takes his chances every day for the $25 that goes with a winner.

Show a jockey $10,000 at the finish line and he will do everything but flourish a gun to get there first. The Santa Anita Handicaps of the past prove that. When Top Row beat Time Supply the riders put on a rodeo that made the efforts of the cowhands at Cheyenne or Prescott seem as gentle as the morning canter of Little Lord Fauntleroy on his favorite Shetland.

When Rosemont beat Seabiscuit by a nose there was a bumping match at the head of the stretch that made the charge of the light brigade an orderly thing by comparison. And it was no equine tea party last year when Stagehand came plowing from behind to take the money by a whisker.

These wild rides are part and parcel of big money stakes. There have been some memorable hell-for-leather rides in the Derby down in Louisville, particularly the Derby in which Granville, the best horse in the race, was hit so hard at the start that his rider was knocked free, and Brevity, the second best horse, was dropped to his knees, and Bold Adventure went on to win.

The stewards have a way (and a sensible one, I believe) of closing their eyes a bit during the rough riding in big races. They know the tension the boys are under and make allowances. It would be silly to expect a jockey to be as mannerly and considerate when he was gunning for ten grand as when he was out in a $1500 claiming race.

There will be some hot potatoes up tomorrow; boys who, when the chips are down, don't give a whoop for their necks or the necks of those riding against them. There are Johnny Adams and Ralph Neves, and Charley Corbett, and Georgie Woolf, and Harry Richards, and Nick Wall, and Jackie Westrope, to name a few. There isn't a boy in that bunch who, if driven to it, wouldn't take his mount through a needle eye opening, let the remains fall where they may.

I've been around enough jockey rooms, from here to Florida, to know how these boys feel about shooting the works, even in much smaller races than the Golden Gallop of Santa Anita. I have heard them, after getting what they believed to be the "works" in a race, threaten to ride over and through their enemies the next time out, and to add a beating with their bats as they went by.

Hard little guys, jockeys. Game little guys, too. Day in and day out. And hang a fortune in their faces and—well, you pick out the one you think will go the furthest to win, and play him tomorrow. He is liable to come winging down there and take it all.

WEST WINDS HERE AND THERE IN SPORT By Eddie West

WHY NOT WHICHEE?

And now for those selections that will thunder (with laughter) down through the halls of time.

The winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap: Whichee!

Second: Specify.
Third: Kayak II.
Fourth: Who cares? And that's NOT the name of a horse.

Whichee, Specify and Kayak are the speed of the big race. When you have speed you're on a running horse, one that will be winging in front at least part of the way. He won't be buffeted at the barrier. He won't be hemmed in on the rail. He won't be pocketed. To beat him they'll have to catch him.

That brings you to the important question: Can Whichee run a mile-and-a-quarter? He can; he did in the Hollywood Gold Cup race. He was only 2 1/2 lengths back of Seabiscuit at the handicapping distance. Specify beat him but Whichee is a faster, fresher animal than he was at the Ingleswood track. Maybe there's a touch of sentiment in selecting Whichee. He's trained by Deril Cannon, who was at San Clemente for many years. But there's a lot of horse-sense, too.

Specify didn't look like he could go much further against Kayak II a couple of weeks ago at 1 1/16 miles, but please remember that race was run in record time. Specify CAN go a mile-and-a-quarter if he's rated, and he'll get a good ride Saturday from Charley Corbett. AND, mah frands, ANY Baroni horse is tough when the money's down.

Kayak might be the logical choice. The Argentine has amazing speed and is game. But he's never been asked to barrel a mile-and-a-quarter, and I can't pick him until I know he can run that far.

Cravat, a stretch-running fool, will be the choice of a majority of REAL handicappers, but I can't see why. He'll come flying down the straightaway, I suppose, but what good will that do if a couple of other nags already have flashed across the line. After all, a donkey named Congressman (who's been running with glorified platters all reason) beat Cravat as late as last Saturday. Jacola and Thanksgiving are just "name" horses. Forget 'em. Thanksgiving could be a winner in case of rain but chances are the track will be fast. Heelfly had no excuses last week.

PREP CAGERS IN C. I. F. TEST

In a basketball game that (in the opinion of many) is tantamount to the Southern California prep championship, Tustin battles powerful Long Beach Poly tonight at Huntington Beach high school, a neutral court.

The winner is virtually a cinch to advance into the final round of the C. I. F. playoffs, drawing either Coronado or Ramona in the semi-final bracket next Friday.

Other quarter-final games: Compton at Whittier, tonight; Santa Barbara at Ventura, tonight; Ramona at Coronado, Saturday night. In earlier games this week, Whittier defeated Bishop, 64-22; Ventura eliminated Carpinteria, 34-24; Coronado ousted El Centro, 34-18, and Santa Barbara put out San Luis Obispo, 40-24.

A form chart would show scant difference between Tustin and Long Beach. Tustin has played 26 games, winning 23. Coach Russ Wilson's disciples have averaged 34 points a game to the opposition's 19. Long Beach has won 18 out of 23, averaging 36 points to 22.

Common opponents were Colton, Chino, Bonita, El Monte, Burbank and Redondo Beach. Burbank nosed out Long Beach, 21-20; Tustin defeated Burbank, 37-31. Other common games indicate a toss-up contest, although in the Coast league Poly undoubtedly encountered stiffer opposition than Tustin did in the Orange county wheel. Within the last two weeks, both schools beat Redondo by exactly the same margin of seven points.

Tustin will stand pat on its lineup of Ev Winkler and Hal Lilley, forwards; "Arky" Lawrence, center; Walt Linker and Joe Keirsey, guards. Carrying the hopes of Long Beach are R. L. Cohee and Don Cecil, forwards; Bob Rice, center; Dave Cohee and Bob Howard, guards. Poly will have a slight edge in height, averaging an even 6 feet to Tustin's 5:10.

stern warning to his foes when he finished a flying fourth in the San Antonio last Saturday. He's at the top of his form. His connections are confident that he'll run the race of his life. But Cravat comes from the clouds, he has no early speed, and must weave his way through the field or come around them in the last quarter. He can handle 120 pounds, but may need some measure of racing luck to triumph.

Then there's Whichsee, Maj. Austin C. Taylor's star, who gained a legion of followers by his spectacular victory in the San Antonio. But that was at a mile-and-an-eighth, and Whichsee has never won at a mile-and-a-quarter. Trainer Darrel Cannon says he's really right, entirely sound for the first time in his career, and thinks he can go the route. Well, tomorrow will tell.

Specify Is Speed of Race
Specify—the speed of the race—holds an excellent chance for it all. He's trained perfectly, is at home on any sort of track, and is ready for his best. They may have to catch, and they will have to run pretty fast to do it. Mud would boost the chances of Jacala, the mare who beat Seabiscuit last fall, sweeping through the Maryland stakes ranks, and knocking over all the stars. She doesn't seem quite at her best, but a lady won the Derby, and Jacala is the only lady in tomorrow's classic. Another Clencia?

Thanksgiving, the hope of Parker Corning, would be a bold threat off top form, mud or dry, but he was a late arrival, and doesn't seem quite at tops.

Then there's Main Man, the major hope of Louis B. Mayer, who might be assisted by Quick Devil—strictly an outsider. Main Man is a top liner, but a mile and a quarter has not been his best distance to date.

War Minstrel would be a threat in mud, but hardly a contender on the dry.

Heelly, Alfred Vanderbilt's hope, would have a chance off top form, but his last two races were quite disappointing.

Then there's the strong entry of Today and Gosum. Today has a new lease on life, and Gosum is a strong stretch runner.

Fullerton Beats Chaffey In Playoffs, 52-39

Fullerton junior college today needed only one more victory over Chaffey to clinch the Eastern conference basketball championship for the third successive season. The Hornets won the first game of the play-off series at Chaffey last night, 52-39. They meet again at Fullerton Tuesday.

AROUND THE YARDS with "Chick"

The best attended poultry meeting of the Orange County Poultry department in years was the remarks one heard at the regular meeting held last Tuesday night in the Farm Bureau community house on South Main street in Orange. Over 90 poultry people crowded into the hall after a fine potluck dinner in the dining room.

Some of those attending were from the far parts of Orange county and all were very much pleased with the fine program. Marshal Richardson of Arcadia gave a talk and showed a colored film on the "vitamin" of poultry. The natural color of the poultry, trees and other things in the picture were of the best and the film and talk were very much enjoyed. Ross Crane gave some facts and figures on the prices of eggs and poultry for the past five years and showed the trend with charts showing the curves on these topics.

The poultry trip for next Friday has been worked out in detail so that you will enjoy a good profitable day when you take this trip. Having been to many parts of the county myself I have helped pick out places where you can see the results of your neighbors and friends in the poultry business. These are good solid results worked out after years of poultry experiences and you can see them. It is the plan of the committee to take you places that start with the baby chick and carry on through the life of the chick till the cold storage place is reached, when he is ready for the table. The different type houses used here, the feeds, water systems, wiring of houses, feeding systems and all the things you do yourself only you see what your neighbor does when he is on his own place. I think so many times one does not get out to see what the other fellow is doing and here is your chance to get out and learn something you did not know about poultry although you have been in the business for years. Let's all tell the other fellow to come and be there yourself. Be at the Farm Bureau at nine a. m. sharp as this schedule has to go off on time to cover the places the committee has picked out for you to see. Tell your friends to come.

The PCA meeting in Los Angeles last Monday was attended by quite a few from Orange county. Some of those attending were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Shackelford, Garden Grove, Ben Claes and Sisters, Anaheim; William L. Driskell, Charles and Ben Heimstra, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hauptman, Santa Ana; Albert S. Walker, Yorba Linda; S. J. Scally, Mrs. D. A. McIntyre, Harold Heimtiller and J. L. Schlutz, Anaheim.

One of the best surprises I have had in the longest time came this past week from Mrs. O. E. Haskins on Rose street north of Placentia. Here I was looking for some eggs in the box I received. On opening I found that the box contained one very large Chermoya, a sub-tropical fruit that Mrs. Haskins belongs to the ranch which belongs to Mr. J. C. Belton of Los Angeles.

The Henry Holtz Hatchery, located at the entrance of the Silverado Canyon has just installed a new 10,000 egg Robins incubator to take care of their growing chick business. This large ranch which has the large type leghorns of the Gasson and Kimber breeding has some of the fine mated pens one reads about. The hatchery started some ten years ago on a small scale has increased each year, till this year 3000 breeding hens are kept on the ranch. The isolation from other flocks has helped in the breeding work and nothing has been spared to get the best results for size and egg records as carried out on a tipical Orange county poultry ranch. Flock mating of high egg records have proven to the owners that their birds pay good dividends.

In my travels over the county I ran across the flock that has a cousin to the "Hen of the Year" hen. This story carried some weeks ago in these pages about the hen of the year brought some investigation on the part of C. A. Harnois at 2310 West Fifth street who breeds reds. Harnois found that his high egg hen was related to the hen of the year.

The Farm Bureau poultry department under the direction of Frank Jones and his committee should feel proud about the big turnout at the last Tuesday night meeting of this department. Mr. Jones wants every one to again turn out for the county wide poultry tour that is to be held next Friday and will cover all topics on poultry from baby chicks to dressed poultry. Watch for the program and schedule in next Wednesday's paper and join the trip as it will more than pay you. So many poultry people do not get around much to see what their neighbors are doing. Here is that chance and all the topics will be discussed by practical poultrymen who know the ranch side of the subject. Come and tell your friends to get in the caravan.

"THE EGG BOWL"
Eat Eggs for Vitality

Eggs furnish protein in a very efficient form. This protein is readily utilized in the body for growth or repair. The egg yolk contains the important vitamin A, B and G, and is an outstanding source of vitamin D. The very important minerals, iron, calcium and phosphorus are found in the egg yolk in such form as to be readily assimilated. The egg yolk being one-third fat is capable of digestion in the stomach.

This week's recipe:
Scrambled Eggs, Madrid Style:
8 strips bacon
1 tsp chopped onion
1 green pepper
3 medium-sized or 2 large pimientos
5 eggs
1 tsp evaporated milk
1 tsp water
1 tsp chili sauce
1 tsp Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp salt
Few grains of pepper

1. Fry bacon until crisp, removing the bacon and leaving the drippings in the pan.
2. Cut the green pepper into thin strips and add the pepper and onion to the pan, sauteing until partly cooked. Cut the pimientos into half-inch strips and add; let the mixture cook until it is well blended.
3. To the eggs, beaten slightly, add the chili sauce, Worcestershire sauce, diluted milk, salt and pepper.

4. Cook as directed for scrambled eggs. Serve on a hot platter garnished with strips of crisp bacon.

Note—If the bacon is very fat, it may be necessary to take some of the drippings out of the pan before adding the green pepper and the onions.

New Hatchery Is Completed

The above picture shows the new modern hatchery building of the Rittenhouse Brothers located in Buena Park. The Hatchery owned by William Rittenhouse, Clarence Rittenhouse and James Kennedy has just been completed and has an incubation capacity of 135,000 eggs.

The new building is located at Manchester avenue and Western avenue in Buena Park. The beautiful new hatchery is one story and 80 feet by 105 feet with 9600 square feet of floor space. Modern in every respect with the latest modern equipment. The heating is done by automatic air conditioning. The Rittenhouse Hatchery organization was started in Orange county in 1920 by William Rittenhouse at Costa Mesa.

FSCC RELIEF DISTRIBUTION SEEN AS MARKET STABILIZER

As a support to the egg market, the Federal Surplus Commodities Corp. is standing ready to purchase enough eggs to prevent unnecessary losses to producers.

The FSCC has for some time pledged its support in maintaining the butter market at reasonable levels by buying surplus butter from the Dairy Products Marketing association and seeing that it is distributed to relief families via local and state agencies.

The egg plan would also concern relief distribution, and although government officials say they see no immediate need for purchases, they are watching the market closely. Experts in the Department of Agriculture are trying to determine a level below which egg prices would indicate a need for government buying. This level would be primarily based on feed costs and their relation to egg prices.

When the New Jersey Federated Egg Producers cooperative urged the government to offer protection to the egg industry, F. J. Wiedke, secretary of the cooperative, wrote to W. D. Termohlen, of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. A part of his letter follows: "We do not believe that there is any great surplus of near-by eggs. As soon as the retail prices are adjusted to present wholesale levels, the additional demand should easily absorb present supplies as well as a normal increase. We would like to see the market cushioned just long enough for this adjustment to take place."

"I should also like to suggest a conference at which present trade practices in the New York market would be discussed. We feel that there have been a number of abuses which have contributed to the recent demoralization. I refer particularly to the practice of driving prices up one day by as much as 4c, only to drop them again by 4c or 5c the next day. Such practices are most destructive to confidence on the part of storekeepers and small jobbers."

The saltiness of seawater is so similar to the saltiness of human blood that tissues are kept alive in laboratories in modified seawater solutions.

REGISTER TO CONDUCT FIRST ANNUAL POULTRY RANCH TOUR

The First Annual Santa Ana Daily Register Poultry Tour will be held next Friday March 10th starting at 9 o'clock a. m. from the Orange County Farm Bureau at 318 South Main street in Orange.

This tour is held in cooperation with the different poultry places visited and the firms interested in the poultry industry in Orange county. The tour will be of very practical importance and every one that is interested in the poultry industry is invited to come on the trip.

Display Types
Some of the things to be seen on the trip will be the hatching of baby chicks in different hatching machines as five types will be seen that will run in egg capacity from 3000 eggs to 52,000 eggs. These machines will be seen in actual operation and the methods of setting eggs to the boxing of chicks will be demonstrated.

The different kinds of brooders used in the raising of baby chicks from day old to the several week old chick will be inspected and the different points of each discussed. Such types as sunshine brooders, electric hoovers, gas hoovers and hot water heaters will be seen on the trip. The latest information on brooders will be given as to wiring, insulation and water and feed arrangements.

Another fine thing on the trip will be the viewing of the latest thing in battery brooders for broilers and fryers. Many different types will be demonstrated and seen in operation and the points will be discussed by the practical poultry man himself who is running these plants. The many types of batteries used over Orange county is interesting and the trip is being planned to cover as many types as possible in the time allowed.

Discuss Feeding
When it comes to the poultry houses many types will be seen from the two story house type to the open air type with wire floor. Three wire floor laying houses will be seen all of different design and the different points of each discussed. These alone will be well worth the time of any poultry man to see and the trip is being arranged so that the practical sides of all poultry equipment will be talked over as the trip moves along.

The feeding side will be taken up at different places and one mill will be visited to see the method of grinding the feeds and the mixing of different grains into mash and scratch feeds.

The complete program and the schedule will be published in next Wednesday's paper on the poultry page. The trip will be run on very exact schedule and if one can not start with the trip at nine o'clock they can join the trip along the route.

The feeding of a wet mash will work better in the case of older hens, or with pullets that are either slow coming into production or have gone into a partial moult. Pullets in full lay do not appear to be benefited by the addition of any system of wet mash feeding.

Newsreel Being Made of Stamp Collecting

Philately is to have a newsreel. During the past week F. Herrick under contract to Pathe News to produce a stamp film, has been working on sequences at the offices of the Scott Stamp and Coin Company, Inc.

The film is planned to show the development of the hobby from its infancy, and also its present day status. Some of the shots will compare the relatively few stamps which existed years ago, as compared with the hundreds of thousands available today. There will be parts showing stamp auctions, over-the-counter sales, mailing of the catalogue, etc.

Five metropolitan firms will be represented, namely, the Scott Stamp and Coin company, Scott Publications, Inc., Nichols Sanabria, Inc., the Economist Stamp company, and Emil Bruechig. It is planned to release the film through RKO.—New York Sun.

The Philatelic Truck

The Post Office Dept. has now decided that they will not have reproductions of the Presidential series on the two sides of the Philatelic Truck as was at first contemplated. They are going to put frames of actual stamps feeling that they will attract attention wherever the truck happens to be parked.

It is fast being put in condition to start on its trip and expects to leave for New York around March 1, stopping at both Columbia and Fordham Universities. From there it will go up the Boston Post Road to Boston and will stop at numerous schools en route.

Suggestions for Subjects of New Stamps Invited

Post Office Department officials made known the fact this week that they are inviting suggestions from historical and patriotic societies, educators and librarians and others best informed on the peace time efforts and achievements of those whose work and deeds are indelibly stamped on the pages of the nation's history, in order that they may be considered in the list of prominent Americans to be included in this series of postage stamps to be issued during the present year.

As thus far outlined the series is to include authors, poets, musicians, inventors, artists, sculptors, scientists, statesmen, socialists, physicians and engineers. There are to be no army and navy heroes embraced in the series and neither will the portrait of any one heretofore appearing on a United States postage stamp be given further recognition by the government. No living person, either, will be considered in the list of notables to be thus honored.

To date a tentative list of famous Americans now being considered by officials includes the names of Longfellow, Whittier, Emerson, Washington Irving and Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) representing the authors and poets; Gilbert Stuart, Charles Wilson Peale and John Singer Sargent, the painters; Edward H. MacDowell, John H. Sousa and Francis Scott Key, the musicians; Augustus Saint Gaudens and Daniel Chester French, the sculptors; Horace Mann and Elizabeth Seton, educators; Thos. A. Edison, Alexander Graham Bell and Eli Whitney, inventors; Patrick Henry, statesman; Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross; John Burroughs, naturalist; Jane Addams, sociologist; Dr. Crawford W. Long, first to use anaesthesia in surgery; and James Buchanan Fads, engineer.

These names do not cover the complete list of those Americans who have distinguished themselves in one field or another in peace-time efforts, but they form a nucleus for others to come and which will be submitted to President Roosevelt for his approval and selection, before official announcement can be made of those whose work will be recognized on United States postage stamps.

It has been suggested in some quarters that the series of prominent Americans to be issued run as high as forty or fifty. There are those, however, who feel that there should not be more than ten or fifteen stamps comprising the issue. It is thought likely that denominations will be held down to low figures, ranging from the one-cent to the five-cent stamps. Opposition to any higher denominations has already started among collectors and dealers, who feel that their bank accounts already have been considerably depleted through purchase of the current series of regular postage.

Do You Have Any Lincoln Letters?

No mid-February column would be complete without some mention of Lincoln. A question so often heard today goes like this, "Do Lincoln letters still turn up?" Muriel Burnett Drell, curator of the Lincoln Historical collection, University of Chicago, answers it thus:

"Many Lincoln letters are forgeries, for the value of genuine ones is a great temptation. Less than a year ago, I believe, one was sent to me by a dealer who innocently offered it as an original worth fifty dollars. The paper on superficial examination seemed genuinely aged, but one tiny almost microscopic speck of fresh blue ink gave it away as a fake. Forgers age inks by various devices—an amateurish aging agent is coffee which gives certain inks the faded brown semblance of by-gone days.

"Abraham Lincoln is still a vital subject for academic research. Nearly every biographer of Lincoln has included in his books a few more 'unpublished' letters written by the great man. Nearly every collector has a few 'unpublished' items, and still they turn up.

"It will be another generation at least, till all Lincoln manuscripts have been dug out of attics, old books, etc. Manuscripts have a queer way of hiding themselves."

Harding, 2c Black, Rotary Printing, Perf. 11

Much interest has been aroused by the discovery of the Harding 2c black, rotary printing, perf. 11. Only two specimens, a used pair and a used single have been reported. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing have no record of use of perf. 11 machines on the Harding rotary print. A western correspondent writes to ask how he might distinguish the flat plate from rotary prints in a search through used copies. He recognizes the difference in perfs, between No. 613 and No. 611, but how about a perf. 11 rotary suspect. The following may be useful:

Color. The flat plate No. 611 is an intense black, often with splashes of black ink of the reverse of stamp while the rotary is a lighter black or even a grayish black which sometimes is streaked as if the sheet was rubbed over before drying.

Size of Design. After measurement of scores of copies these differences are found. The flat plate is a short or minus 19½mm wide and similar short 22½mm long. The rotary printing is a plus or full 19½mm wide and 22¼ or 23mm long. The same transfer roll was used for both, but differences in paper and wholly non-comparable methods of printing account for the slight variation in size.

The Post Office Department's Publication, "A Description of United States Postage Stamps"

During 1937 the department distributed a 120-page booklet entitled, "A Description of United States Postage Stamps" which described and illustrated all of our stamps from July 1, 1847, to December 31, 1936. The government printing office sold more of these (paper cover 25c, cloth 75c), than any official publication ever issued by any department.

They are now thinking of re-issuing this book, revising the early portion and bringing it up to date. Before doing this the Post Office Department desires constructive criticism. They want to make it just as valuable to the collector as possible and will consider any suggestion made. Such letters should be addressed to: Robert E. Fellers, Superintendent, Division of Stamps, Post Office Department, Washington, D. C. We would like to see them enlarge its scope, that is, not simply describe designs but also take into consideration imperforates and perforates such as the 1851 and 1857 issues, difference in minor details of designs such as the first and second issues of 1861 and the National and Continental prints of 1870 and 1873. Then, do not overlook mention of the grills of both the 1867 and 1870 issues.

At present they furnish a list of the quantities of Commemorative and Air Post stamps issued as well as the plate numbers. What a wonderful reference book this would be if they treated the regular issues in a similar manner.

A New Air Mail Issue

The Department is giving consideration to a new stamp or series of stamps to be used in connection with the carrying of air mail between the United States and Europe which will undoubtedly be in operation during the summer of this year. It is believed that the rate will be 25c and some thought had been given to surcharging the 25c blue air mail variety, but it is now about decided that an entirely new emission will make its appearance in time for the initial flight.

If a series is decided upon they will be possibly be identical in design but differ in color so that the post office clerk will become familiar with the air mail stamp and be able to separate the regular from the air mail more quickly. Such a series would be continued and used for all air mail.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Things are happening within WPA since Mr. Hopkins reformed and left.

A nose-counter there who should know, estimates 200 members of the Washington staff have been dropped or "not replaced" since Col. Harrington took hold.

The changes are being made not to clean out the Hopkins crowd, it is said sub-officially, but to "promote efficiency."

Earnest Col. Harrington is also elbowing out a number of state administrators, one by one. Two have been pushed out to date, and a third—a particular friend of a leading Democratic senator—is beginning to feel a nudge. There may be trouble about all this, as Col. Harrington's idea of efficiency seems to bring him down hard on the horns of many a U. S. senator.

Most important WPA change, however, has been the quiet departure of David K. Niles, an old-time progressive and close friend of Hopkins. He was the Hopkins liaison with the capitol, was brought here first by Jimmy Roosevelt, now will join the Hopkins inner family circle in the commerce department.

The administration is becoming interested in how Hitler and Mussolini know so much about what is going on here.

The dictators have been shooting back at Roosevelt and other officials through their press as fast as words can fly through a trans-oceanic telephone—and with something more than pot-shot accuracy. It is all the more amazing because the European press generally editorialized about the United States up until the last few months as if cowboys and Indians were still running loose in the streets. Of course, some of the German and Italian press comment is still off the mark, but not the most important of it. German press reaction following Mr. Roosevelt's warning of a European crisis and his "deliberate lie" attack, was obviously based on better immediate information than some American editorial writers seemed to have.

Semi-official investigating has developed this much: Hitler reorganized his news gathering system in the United States about the time he left the local embassy without an ambassador. Several "key men" were sent over, one or two as newsmen. A particularly good man is supposed to be stationed in New York.

The subject is still under investigation and there may be some developments. Pat Hurley, the big oil lawyer, has been called back from the oil seizure negotiations at Mexico City. Donald Richberg will handle the whole case. He is working for five demands: A long term contract for Americans to operate their oil properties, a fixed schedule of taxes, a guarantee of labor conditions by both parties, reimbursement for losses caused when the government seized the properties, all the properties to be returned to the Mexican government at the end of the contract. The Mexican government will probably not accept all these, and chances of an agreement are not generally regarded as bright.

Another old-timer has tip-toed out of the labor department, W. Frank Persons, director of the unemployment service, and transferred to the CCC. He will not want to talk about his resignation, but it came in the midst of a dispute between Miss Perkins, who wanted to keep the service, and Chairman Altmeyer of Social Security, who wanted the Persons department in his.

Persons never got along well with Miss Perkins' female brain trust, known within the department as "the lady brain trust." It is composed of Mary La Dame, assistant to Persons, Clara M. Beyer, director division of labor standards and Mary Dewson, who recently resigned as a member of the social security board.

Income distribution is holding up well, furnishing another encouragement for further business activity.

You will note from the following chart of government figures that the present level of national income is much above the average for last year and would be higher, were farm prices less low.

Mr. Roosevelt waived recently about the amateur military strategists who are misinforming the public in books and articles. One he will not criticize is George Fielding Eliot, former major in the intelligence reserves. His book "Ramparts We Watch" is gospel.

Authorities are doing nothing to stop the rumor that the attacking fleet in the maneuvers broke through and theoretically established a South American base for an attack on the Panama Canal. The suggestion furnishes good fuel to push the pending defense bills through congress.

PROPOSED COUNTY TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM TO EXTEND PACIFIC ELECTRIC LINES - NOW OPERATING.

Shown above is a reproduction of a newly proposed Orange county transportation system, designed to bring new service to many communities in the county and to improve service to Los Angeles.

First presented to the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County this week by Ivie Stein of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, considerable interest has been shown in the idea by the various communities of the county and by Pacific Electric officials.

With a decision forthcoming within a few days on consolidation of the Motor Transit bus system and the Pacific Electric railway company, the plan may dovetail into a general improved system of mass transportation. The idea is to furnish bus service to the communities, with transfer facilities on the railway to Los Angeles from Santa Ana or other points.

'Humane Bits'

By FLORENCE A. ROBINSON

Tomorrow will mark the days in the life of a certain young colored woman, who tonight is in a local hospital being prepared for an operation upon her eyes, which is to bring her nearly normal vision.

This is just one of the big things in life that are ever being enacted beneath the surface of every day living, but just knowing of such incidents makes us feel that we are proud to know every one concerned as well as to live in a place where human sympathy has not been lost in the over-tide of making a living.

To a certain very sympathetic woman, for whom this nearly blind colored girl has been working, and to a certain very fine eye doctor for his unquestioned cooperation, belong the roles of real people and may all the richness of life be theirs; and if the deep gratitude of one who is about to see could be measured—the ordinary span of life could not count it out.

Injured when very young, this young woman has never been able to see the world as most of us see it, but after tomorrow she will—not only with her two eyes but with a heart just bursting with well being and love for two very understanding Santa Ana citizens.

Here is a rather unusual order the Orange County Humane society has been asked to fill.

One of the society's members is the proud possessor of a very fine black cat, sent her from China. Wishing to perpetuate the charms of her fine feline this particular member has asked that an equally black mother cat be found for her. It must be fairly young, very black, and short haired. A mighty good home is open to one ebony mama cat.

In Greece, commercial motor vehicles are required by law to be painted blue, so that a uniform appearance is insured in case they are required for military purposes.

Next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the Orange County Humane society will meet in the Weber Baking company's club-rooms, North Main street at El Portal. Everyone is invited and members are urged to send their annual dues immediately to the secretary, 2103 North Flower street.

Another matter referred to the committee was in regard to federal fuel oil tax bills now pending in congress. It was said that the proposed tax would impose a burden of $1.26 a barrel upon the consumer.

S. A. Boosters Decry Huge Loss To State Through Income Tax

Appointment of a new legislative committee in the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce was announced today by President George A. Parker following a meeting of the board of directors yesterday.

Members of the committee are Bob Fernandez, chairman; W. B. Hellis, J. C. Horton, E. B. Sharp-ley, A. C. Ritter, George Dun-ton and Jack Boardman.

One matter referred by the directors to the new committee yesterday was brought to the attention of the local chamber of commerce by the Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce and by C. L. Preisker, chairman of the Santa Barbara board of supervisors.

Declaring that California is losing millions of dollars annually as a result of its placing a 15 per cent tax on those in the highest income bracket, the Santa Barbara chamber and board chairman urged Santa Ana to consider the situation, seeking immediate reduction of this rate to one comparable with other states.

Destroying Industry

"The California income tax," Chairman Preisker said, "is destroying one of California's major industries. Every year the various agencies of the state spend hundreds of thousands of dollars in an effort to bring to this state people of means. The residence of these people within our borders is just as much of an industry as any other production of wealth. Their contribution to business, employment, real property values and to the wealth and prosperity of the state has been felt throughout the state in increased prosperity."

Dog, Forced From Master, Quickly Finds New Home

Such is the kingdom of men and dogs, men always grateful for dogs, dogs always grateful for men, it was revealed yesterday after Edward C. Bangs, 811 Orange avenue, Santa Ana, was found guilty by City Judge J. G. Mitchell, of harboring a public nuisance, his barking dog, and ordered to get rid of the animal within 48 hours or pay a fine of $25.

Within a half hour after Mrs. Eugene A. Robinson, secretary of the Orange County Humane society, was called upon by Bangs to find a home for the dog, a pedigreed wire-hair terrier who does many tricks, the dog had a new home—in unincorporated territory of the Orange district.

Brothers Delighted

A Costa Mesa friend of Bangs whom Bangs thought might take the dog decided against that move because he already has a dog so Mrs. Robinson, on behalf of the humane society, got busy.

She did not wish to name the new owners but declared they included two little brothers who are delighted over their new canine acquisition. Bangs said he "hated" to part with his pal but was glad his pal got a good home.

Mrs. Robinson said she believed the dog's barking to be due to nervousness and his sensitiveness to sounds outside of the house, plaint which led to Bangs' arrest.

Among the earliest timepieces in the world were candles. King Alfred, of England, who reigned in the 9th century, regulated his work at night by means of a candle marked with hour intervals.

that his "blue-blood" background might have resulted in his being "high-strung." Mrs. C. M. Best, Bangs' neighbor, signed the complaint which led to Bangs' arrest.

February Bride

Prominent among recent county brides is Mrs. John T. Miller, who was Miss Ruth Louise Grund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Grund of Villa Park, before her wedding on February 11. The young people are living at 137 Melrose avenue, Buena Park. Mr. Miller is the son of the Henry Millers of Santa Ana.

April Bride-Elect
Receives Shower Gifts

April wedding plans of Miss Ruth Mary Rimmel and Raymond Allen inspired a kitchen shower last night when the bride-elect was feted by her cousins, the Misses Lona and Lula Rimmel. They entertained in their home, 1121 West Eighth street.

The co-hostesses had arranged an attractive setting of stocks and ranunculus throughout the home. Hollywood bridge and other games were introduced with the result that Miss Fern Hill and Miss Adele Pyatt won prizes for their high and low scores.

Miss Rimmel came into possession of her gift packages by following white streamers which led to the kitchen and a big umbrella which held the prettily-wrapped kitchen articles, all of which were in ivory tones. Serving of inviting refreshments was accomplished by the sister hostesses and their mother, Mrs. Myrtle Rimmel. Sixteen friends had been invited to the affair.

Attend Piano Concert

Miss Leonora Tompkins and a group of her young piano students were in Los Angeles early this week for a concert given at Philharmonic auditorium by Ruth Slenczynski, 13-year-old prodigy. The young pianist and her father, Josef Slenczynski have been spending several days in the Los Angeles home of Olga Steeb, distinguished pianist, while Miss Slenczynski has been preparing for an April concert in Bucharest, Rumania before going to her home in Paris.

Miss Tompkins is a member of Miss Steeb's repertoire class. Joining the Santa Ana teacher in attending the concert were Gloria Crouse, Marjorie Fryatt, Celia Mary Frances and Alice Jean Dixon. The group was fortunate in meeting the well known actor, George Arliss after the concert.

In the absence of the program chairman, Mrs. Florence McCoy of Orange, Miss Vanche Plumb introduced the speaker. Mrs. T. Miller gave a comprehensive account of sessions of the Cause and Cure of War conference which she attended in Washington, D. C., as a representative of various Orange county organizations.

Musical numbers were given by Fullerton Junior college students including Miss Margaret Hein, Miss Jeanette Schultz and Miss Mary Esther Wood, who sang trio numbers, "Until" (Sanderson), "Time on My Hands" (Youmans), and "In a Luxembourg Garden" (Manning). They were accompanied by Harold Larson.

Baptist Women Complement
High School-Jaycee Group

Two groups of First Baptist church young people—those who are members of this year's graduating class at Santa Ana High school, and those who are attending junior college—were honored at a dinner Wednesday evening when First Baptist Woman's society entertained in the church dining room.

Speaker was the Rev. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of Fullerton First Presbyterian church, who talked on "The Bridge of Vision." The value of placing first emphasis on the achievement of spiritual security, rather than on financial security, was stressed. The Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the church, introduced the speaker, whose talk came as the main feature of the after-dinner program.

Mrs. Benjamin Brubaker, student councilor, was assisted by Mesdames Franklin West, Kenneth King, Richard Robbins and Miss Mary Nalle in planning the affair. Mrs. Brubaker presided while a number of introductions were made. Seated at the main table with committee members and their husbands were the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Owings and the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter. Forty high school and college young people, and scores of family groups were present.

Musical Program

Mrs. Charles G. Nalle had arranged a musical program which opened with group singing of "America" and closed with "Open Mine Eyes That I May See." David Craighead played several piano numbers. Vernon Warden sang "I Love Life," accompanied at the piano by Miss Edna Walker. Miss Walker also was at the piano when Miss Ruth Alden sang a solo. Miss Myrtle Martin of the junior college faculty directed the college Treble Clef club in several selections, for which Miss Virginia Stanley was accompanist.

Favors for the honor guests were miniature vases which contained nuts and candies. Jonquils decked the tables, while the springtime motif was further observed in decorations on the stage. Mrs. A. M. Robinson and Mrs. R. L. Stearns, who took charge of dinner details, were aided by a large corps of workers. Mrs. Russell Crouse, president of Woman's society, presided.

Preceding the dinner was the society's business meeting. Members voted to assume the responsibility of providing a South China booth at the Northern Baptist convention to be held in Los Angeles June 20-25.

St. Patrick's Theme
Prevails at Luncheon

St. Patrick's decorations in all their refreshing charm added to the enjoyment of a luncheon and bridge party at which Mrs. Ray Dawson entertained yesterday afternoon at Danigers. She received 16 guests.

White tapers lighted a long table which was appointed with white flowers and greenery, while clever St. Patrick's favors were at each place.

Scoring high in bridge play of the afternoon was Mrs. Harvey Maxwell. She won an attractive prize, as did other high scorers, Mrs. Perrin of Duluth, Minn., and Mrs. Robert Gamble of Fullerton.

Houseguest Complimented
With Bridge Luncheon
In Young Home

Affording some of her Santa Ana friends opportunity to meet her very charming house-guest, Mrs. Inez Gunnison of Terra Bella, Mrs. Carl Young entertained yesterday at luncheon and bridge in her home, 1311 Louise street. The Youngs formerly lived at Terra Bella near Porterville, and Mrs. Gunnison was one of Mrs. Young's close friends. Their associations have been happily renewed during the fortnight of Mrs. Young's Santa Ana visit.

A dozen guests were invited for yesterday's luncheon, and found places around the small tables, each spread with white linen as background for a nosegay of bright blossoms forming the centerpiece. Dutch iris and daffodils provided the true purple and gold of flowers gracing the buffet and serving table. No less lovely were the arrangements of yellow jasmine and anemones in the living room where bridge was played during the afternoon.

Mrs. Young awarded three prizes, one to her honor guest, Mrs. Gunnison, and others to Mrs. Sidney Russell and Mrs. Leslie R. Wilson.

During his Santa Ana stay he also visited with the Elmer Bergesons of West Fifth street, and took the opportunity to act as pilot for his relatives on an airplane ride from the Eddie Martin airport.

Miss Mary Jeneyv Boyd, student at Mabel Scott Rancho School for Girls, will spend the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Boyd, 210 South Broadway.

Mesdames John McKean, James Sullivan and Glenn Hendrickson, members of Ernest Kellogg auxiliary V. F. W., were at Hollywood Knickerbocker hotel Wednesday night for a banquet honoring Anna Mae Lochner of Petersburg, Fla., national president of V. F. W. Auxiliary.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Grivel have returned to their home on Newport road, after a fortnight's trip through northern California. They not only visited the San Francisco exposition at Treasure Island on the opening day, but returned for a second day at the fair, visiting also Berkeley, Burlingame, Petaluma, Santa Rosa and other California cities.

Miss Betty Jane Moore of Tustin avenue, a student at University of Southern California, is one of the university's new pledges to Kappa Delta sorority, and will be initiated into full membership Sunday, when a formal dinner will climax the initiation rites.

Folk Songs to Highlight
Junior Ebell Program
Next Tuesday

Another outstanding musical program is in store for Junior Ebell society members, who will meet Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the clubhouse for entertainment to be given by Marya Ostrava, folk song-dramatist, who has won high praise for her talents and charming personality.

Mrs. George Walker has arranged this unique program, which will be preceded by a business meeting in charge of the president, Miss Elizabeth Smith. Selection of a nominating committee in anticipation of annual election of officers will be one of the main features. This, of course, will be the final general meeting preceding the annual fashion show and bridge party to be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. in the clubhouse.

Miss Ostrava's program of folk songs will be presented in four different groups, for which appropriate costumes will be donned. Although she was born in America, the artist has learned folk songs of Slavic countries direct from the lips of her Czechoslovakian mother. Several of these numbers will be of Miss Ostrava's own arrangement.

Members are advised that the annual husbands' night program will take place Tuesday evening, April 4, in the clubhouse.

Drama's Trend Provides Players' Program

Tracing the manner in which political happenings and trends are reflected in each historical era are reflected in the drama, Mrs. Horace Benjamin, Anaheim, talked very entertainingly for Community Players at last night's Barn program.

Mrs. David Collins (Marion Graaf Collins), Barn chairman, introduced Mrs. Benjamin, whose general subject, "Drama as it Reflects Contemporary Thought," was developed from the days of Shakespeare through Ibsen, and the Abbey Irish Players, forerunners of modern Little Theater groups. Of present plays, she not only cited "Knickerbocker Holiday" in which Walter Huston is starring on Broadway, but reviewed the play very graphically. She also suggested the political strain of "The American Way" now featuring Frederic March and Florence Eldridge.

A more informal note was introduced in the program when Mrs. Collins led in one of the popular quizzes, with all present taking part amidst much hilarity. Mrs. Burr Shafer as refreshment chairman, had assistance from David Collins in serving cakes and hot coffee as finale to the evening.

Luncheon and Bridge

Luncheon at Danigers was an event of Wednesday afternoon for bridge club members entertained by Mrs. Don Hillyard. Three tables of cards were in play with the result that Mrs. Arthur Trawick, Mrs. John Miller and Mrs. Robert Weston held the two high and low scores. Mrs. Weston and Mrs. S. B. Kaufman were guests of the day.

Here's Quick Relief for
RASPY COUGHS

DUE TO COLDS

First—put a small lump of Vicks VapoRub on your tongue and let it melt. The medication bathes the irritated membranes as it trickles down your throat—bringing comforting relief—where you want it—when you want it.

Then—melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Breathe in the vapor for a few minutes. As these vapors work their way down through the air-passages, they loosen phlegm and ease the cough.

Bride of Late February
Is Complimented at Gift Shower

Following shortly after announcement of the wedding on February 21 of Miss Velda Davis and George Hopper of Silver Acres, was a miscellaneous bridal shower at which the new Mrs. Hopper's sister and sister-in-law, Mrs. W. C. Patrick and Mrs. Roy E. Davis, entertained Wednesday afternoon in the Patrick home, 1421 West Washington avenue.

Mrs. Roy Davis is from Bakersfield, and took advantage of a short visit in the Southland, to compliment her husband's sister. The two hostesses used ranunculus and sweet pea clusters whose delicate spring colors were as varied as were lovely gifts showered on the bride honoree. A miniature bridal couple had prominent place in the decorative scheme.

There was an equal variety of games and contests, in which prizes were won by Mesdames Ralph Davis, Thomas Grafton, Jack Yalden and Miss Minnie Davis, the latter a cousin of the bride. Just following this interval, the new Mrs. Hopper was seated at a table laden with the shower packages, whose examination provided entertainment for all. As concluding feature of the pleasant afternoon, Mrs. Patrick and Mrs. Davis served ice cream, cake and cookies with coffee and tea.

The marriage of Miss Velda Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Davis, and George Hopper occurred Tuesday, February 21 in Yuma, Ariz. They are already settled in the pretty new home which Mr. Hopper had in readiness for his bride, at Silver Acres where he is in the welding business.

Friends assembled for the shower were from various communities. Mrs. B. F. Hughes came from Montebello; Mrs. Thomas Grafton from McKittrick; Mrs. Gilbert Aikman from Lomita; Mrs. Jack Yalden and son, Jackie, from San Pedro; Mrs. Roy Agren, Hermosa Beach; Mesdames Ira Dunkin, Berenice Sloan, Walis James, Anna Frick, Lois Shadowen, Bert Deck, Minnie Spinchfield and Miss Ruth Ward, Orange; Mesdames Charles Patterson, William Patterson and baby son, M. Black, Albert Davis, P. C. Stroud, Hallie Patterson, Robert Stroud and daughter Suzanne and Miss Minnie Davis, Silver Acres, with Mrs. W. L. Blankenbecker and Mrs. Ralph Davis of this city.

Initiation Rites Held

Initiation rites for three new members were conducted for Women's auxiliary to Carpenters' union at a meeting Tuesday night in Carpenters hall. Mrs. Edward G. Crabtree presided over the session, and new members welcomed were Mrs. Roy Brown of Seal Beach; Mrs. Robert Anderson and Mrs. H. E. Quandt of Orange.

March plans as outlined during the business meeting, include a celebration of St. Patrick's day on March 17 when the auxiliary will entertain husbands of members at an evening pinocle party in the hall, 1432 West Fourth street. Mrs. Jacob Bergsetter issued invitation to the auxiliary to hold a covered dish luncheon in her home, 320 South Garney street, on Friday, March 24.

Recent Guest

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Forrester have returned to their home in Avonol, after a short visit with Mrs. Forrester's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Chambers of Laguna Beach. The marriage of Leora Chambers and Jack Forrester was an event of February 8 in Monterey county.

Visitors From North

Charles Muffett of Vancouver, Wash., arrived yesterday to join Mrs. Muffett in a visit in the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ulrich of Lemon Heights. Mrs. Muffett preceded her husband to Orange county by two weeks' time.

The Ulrichs and the visitors planned to spend today on a trip to nearby beaches. They plan various other short drives before departing for the north within the next several days. Mrs. Muffett already has enjoyed several jaunts, and has been feted at various gatherings. Among recent affairs was a family dinner party in the Ulrich home. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Becker of Portland, Ore., who are here for an extended visit. Mr. Becker is a brother of Mrs. Ulrich and Mrs. Muffett.

jimmie fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, March 3.—You'll never see his name on the billboards, the picture's credit titles, or the studio press releases, but Art Miles, in my opinion, rates as one of Hollywood's real, though unsung heroes.

About eight years ago, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer dressed him in a monkey suit for a bit in one of the Tarzan pictures, and Mr. Miles, after weighing all the pros and cons, decided that being a monkey was not such a bad business as the wise-crackers would have you believe. He decided to become a professional gorilla—the best in all the world. And between odd jobs, for the next five years, he spent a major portion of his time in the San Diego zoo, just sitting on a bench in front of the huge cage which houses that institutions two gorillas. He watched their facial contortions, studied their shambling walk, noted the timber of their voices—and went home to do likewise. Today, he's probably the greatest of all authorities on the habits of a gorilla—and if you doubt my superlative, watch his antics in the Twentieth Century picture, "The Gorilla."

His specially designed suit weighs 100 pounds and it's so thick that no air reaches his body. He can only work in it a few minutes at a time, and even so, he loses an average of four pounds a day—four pounds that he has to gain back by cramming at night. After an unusually long scene, he's in a state bordering on collapse and must rest for half an hour before struggling back into his costume. Off-hand, I can't think of another actor who "gives" more for his art, and "gives" so anonymously.

CUFF NOTES: Shed no sympathetic tears for Wally Beery—two days after his 15-year-old marriage shoaled, he was riding at the night clubs with an unknown pretty, and he's been at it ever since. . . . Don't laugh, but Jack Roper, the local heavyweight who's to fight Joe Louis come spring, is doing his training by swapping screen punches with Fred MacMurray in a Paramount picture. . . . Janet Beecher has written a play which will be given a Broadway fling. . . . Irene Dunne has marked that Georgia vacation "Deferred," because she wants to see her latest film previewed before leaving town—it's so sexy, she's worried. . . . It's a come-back for Ralph Graves with a leading role in "Street of Missing Men" for spring-board. . . . Stand by for an early wedding announcement from Janet Gaynor and Adrian—they'll trek to the altar soon after April Fool Day. . . . Robert Montgomery and Director Bill Wellman are shopping for two more partners in their independent production venture—they will make at least two ultra-arties. . . . That broken hand of Richard Dix's hurts the studio even more than it does him—they've had to delay shooting for a week on "Man of Conquest". . . . Don't be too sorry for Mrs. Clark Gable—my Nevada operative writes that she's having herself a time up there while waiting for her divorce which is due next Monday. . . . Franchot Tone will return to Hollywood come June whether he's signed for a picture or not. . . . Brian Aherne, who's been a synonym for romance to I-can't-count-that-many stellar ladies, is now saying it with flowers to Norma Shearer. . . . It's big-scale farming for Clark Gable—he's just stocked his ranch with 12,000 baby chicks.

WEST COAST—"The Little Princess," technicolor world premier, day and date with Los Angeles, starring Shirley Temple, with Richard Greene, Anita Louise, Arthur Treacher, Sybil Jason, Ian Hunter, Cesar Romero; also "Personal Secretary," with Andy Devine, Joy Hodges, William Gargan; also Disney's latest color cartoon, "Goofy and Wilbur."

BELLS AND NO-BELLS: The one bright spot of an otherwise disappointing week is "Spirit of Culver," not a colossal but swell entertainment nevertheless. . . . A respectful salute to Peter George Lyn for his fine performance in "Mystery Plane"—so good he was signed for two important roles the night of the preview. . . . Chiding boots to those stars who insist on taking senseless risks in planes and on the polo field—thereby jeopardizing the jobs of hundreds and costing their studios thousands of dollars in hopped-up insurance premiums. . . . And a carillon to Jimmy Cagney who, without benefit of publicity, has been sending truck loads of food to the indigent dust bowl refugees.

Seven-year-old John Sheffield, playing his first role in "Tarzan in Exile," didn't like the idea of acting and could only be persuaded by the promise of a special bonus. It's guaranteed in his contract with M-G-M. On completion of the picture, he will be formally presented with a bicycle!

Ian Hunter is peddling an hilarious tale of woe. Seems that he started for the race track t'other afternoon, and half-way there had a flat tire. When he tried to pay the service station attendant for changing it, he discovered that he had left his wallet at home. He drove back to Hollywood and, consequently, missed the first three races. And scarcely had he entered the Santa Anita club house than he was summoned, by telephone, back to the studio for a one-line retake. The line was: "Thanks for a delightful afternoon."

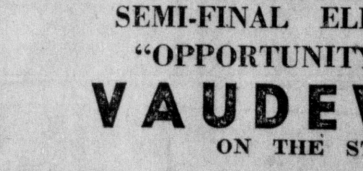

Wild ducks, hawks, falcons and wildgeese can attain a flight speed of 60 miles an hour, while carrier pigeons do about 45 miles.

THE NEBBES

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANN MEREDITH

It is hardly possible that you will be making mince meat this late in the season, but there is no reason why you can't clip and file this recipe for use next winter. It is too fine for me to set aside, and perhaps lose in the welter of recipes that collect here in the Mixing Bowl house throughout the year; that is why it is today's featured recipe.

Incidentally, this mince meat formula has a history that traces back fully one hundred years.

Old-Style Mince Meat
 5 or 6 lbs beef from neck
 3 lbs beef suet
 4 lbs seeded raisins
 4 lbs currants
 1 lb citron
 6 qts tart apples, measured after chopping fine
 2 lbs white sugar
 1 qt boiled cider or grape juice
 1 qt cooking molasses
 2 ozs ground cinnamon
 1 oz ground cloves
 1 oz nutmeg
 2 lemons, juice and grated rind
 Salt and pepper to taste
 1/4 lb butter.

Cover the piece of beef with hot water. Simmer the pot tightly covered adding water as required; skim occasionally. When tender, uncover, add salt and simmer until broth is well reduced. When the meat is cool, remove bones and gristle and chop fine (by hand). Add all fruit and suet to chopped meat, mix well, then add sugar mixed with spices, stir and add molasses and cider with butter. Turn into a big kettle and bring to a hard scald. Pack in hot sterilized jars, securely capped. Examine jar tops before storing mince meat.

My experience has been that the meat must be chopped by hand but apples, citron and such things mix more evenly if run through the food grinder. Suet may be frozen and ground with good results.

Baked Bean Patties

1 No. 2 can of baked beans
 1 medium onion, ground
 1 cup soft crumbs
 Salt and pepper to taste
 1 egg beaten with 2 tbsps water
 Cracker meal
 Hot bacon fat for frying
 Mash beans with a fork while heating in a wide sauce pan. Remove from fire and add cup of crumbs, salt and pepper. When quite cold and firm, shape into flat cakes, roll first in cracker meal, dip in egg and again roll in cracker meal. Fry in a golden brown in hot fat and serve with a hot tomato sauce, if used for the evening meal, or with bacon if served for breakfast.

A quickly made tomato sauce uses a can of cream of tomato soup, heated in double boiler without diluting. Season highly, add homemade chili sauce (1/3 cup) and a dash of lemon juice and cayenne.

Maple-Nut Biscuit

Sift 4 cups of sifted flour with 3 rounded tpsps baking powder and 1 tsp salt
 Work into flour 6 scant tbsps shortening or butter
 Mix to soft dough with 1 1/4 cups milk
 Mix 1 1/4 cups brown sugar with 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts and work in 1 1/4 tpsps maple extract
 Mix sugar and nuts with 2/3 cup soft butter.
 Knead dough lightly and roll into thin square. Spread dough with maple-nut mixture, roll up, cut in inch pieces, arrange on cookie sheet thickly spread with butter. Bake in a hot oven about 15 minutes.

For Bridge Club

Two tables of bridge were in play Wednesday night when club members were received in the home of Mrs. C. D. Ferry, 1819 North Ross street. Mrs. Jack Rimel, who scored high, was rewarded with a potted plant. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Busy Day Shared By Beaumont Members

Beaumont officers assembled Wednesday morning in Masonic temple for a practise session in advance of the covered dish luncheon for which members of the Assembly and a few friends joined them at mid-day. This interval was made doubly enjoyable by observance paid two members whose birthday anniversaries have occurred since the last previous meeting.

They were Mrs. J. H. Shaw and Mrs. W. E. Patterson, and it developed that they share the same February birthday date. To them were presented delicious cakes, baked especially by Mrs. E. A. Pagenkopp and Mrs. C. L. Neuschwanger. Sharing the gayeties of the luncheon hour were Messrs. Henry Meyer, W. M. Clayton and J. H. Shaw.

When the assembly session convened at 1 o'clock it was under direction of Mrs. Hugh Willey, president. Special guests introduced were Mrs. J. Joseph Smith, past supreme worthy president, Mrs. C. Smuck and Mrs. McDonald, all present from the Pasadena assembly.

Business affairs included installation of Mrs. J. Peterman as standard bearer to fill a vacancy in that office. Plans were made also for a benefit card party to be held Wednesday, April 19. Officers were requested to be present for another practise session to be held March 15 at 10 a. m. in Masonic temple.

Visitor From Indiana Feted at Luncheon

Mrs. Walter Good of Gary, Ind., who has just arrived in the Southland for a spring visit, was inspiration for a pretty luncheon Wednesday afternoon in the home of her niece, Mrs. John J. Vernon, 528 West Santa Clara avenue.

Mrs. Vernon's sister, Mrs. Charles Rumell, assisted in carrying out plans for the party, which included the serving of luncheon at a table centered with a crystal bowl of red carnations, on either side of which were matching tapers.

The twelve guests present included three from out-of-town, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Edmondson of Long Beach and Mrs. A. B. Sholly of Altadena.

Mrs. Good left Wednesday night for San Diego where she is a guest in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Cavan. She plans to return to Santa Ana for visits from time to time, and later in the spring will be joined by Mr. Good.

Hosts Compliment Niece With Layette Shower

Entertaining Sunday in their home, 420 North McClay street, Mr. and Mrs. James McClure made their hospitality a special compliment to their niece, Mrs. William Dulon of Arlington. Sweet peas and jonquils used in profusion about the home, expressed a charming springtime mood, and were especially lovely as table decorations when the dinner menu was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Dulon were accompanied from Arlington by Mr. and Mrs. John Piper, Mr. and Mrs. J. Morford, John Piper Jr.

and the Misses Ramona Wood and Arleen Dulon. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Nydegger, Mrs. Isabel Dicks, Mrs. Edward Guibault and A. E. Lindstrom came from San Juan Capistrano for the event, while a group of Los Angeles friends included Messrs. and Mesdames Ben Graham, Edward Taylor, Paul Alley, R. Ireland, G. E. Anderson, D. Smith, Mesdames Harriette Hughes, Dora Dulon, Fannie Phillips, the Misses Viola Elwood, Jean Smith and June Smith, and Vincent Arisco.

All took part in various games in which the stork motif was evident, and enjoyed violin solos played by Miss Shirley McClure.

as preliminary to showering Mrs. Dulon with layette gifts.

FRANCES WILLARD
Hold Assembly

An alumni assembly, sponsored by Mrs. Nellie Smith, Miss Helen Glancy, and E. D. Froese, was presented to eighth graders when the junior college men's double quartet featured the afternoon program. This group, composed of Victor Allman, Lyle Anderson, Fred Blauer, Leonard Brown, Bruce Buell, George Hyde, Ed Velarde, and Horace Evans, was directed by Miss Myrtle Martin.

Joeyce music instructor, and accompanied by Miss Edna Walker. Completing the entertainment were Margaret Fields and Margaret Elmer, who sang; Kenneth Akin playing a violin solo; Verna Marie Osborne on the piano; Carol Brinkerhoff who gave a reading with piano accompaniment; and Velma Stroud and Ralph Guldred as a tap dance team.

Basketball letters were awarded to players by Coach Arnold Lund, John Dickey, E. D. Froese, and Arthur Niswanger.

Winson Porteous

Winson Porteous, Willard graduate and sports editor of the All-American Echo in '38, who is now attending University High school in Brentwood Heights where he is assistant sports editor of the "Warrior," school publication, visited old friends and classmates at Willard Thursday of last week.

Audubon Bird Club

Pin tailed duck, shovellers, sand pipers, plovers, white egrets, avocets, and 12 species of land birds are some of the winter birds seen on the recent trip of the Audubon Bird club to the Bolsa Chica gun club, when Mrs. Jack Ball and Miss Vanne Plumb, sponsor, provided transportation for the group of 15.

"This spot is ideal for sea birds, because it is situated near a still water lake just inland from the sea," Miss Plumb remarked. "During this season is the only time that winter birds are available because later in the year they go back in the hills to rest," she concluded.

Informative Quiz

The informative quiz invaded Willard for the first time at the ninth grade assembly recently, and sponsored by Mrs. Evelyn Minge, Mrs. Vera Allen, and Norman Hicks. Ben Schlegel as professor Noval, David Heall as Father Time, and Lane Wright as Getzsum, interviewed representatives of the different classes in an effort to learn information about Willard.

Four Ninth Graders

Resolved, "that Charlesmeyer deserved the title of the greatest more than Alexander," was the topic of a recent debate by the H & Z social science class, under the direction of Mrs. Veda Mashmyer. With Dick Hill acting as chairman, the debaters included Eugene Dixon and Paul Friedman, affirmative, and Janet McFadden and Beverly Harris, negative. The class judged the affirmative best.

keeping these factors in mind: preparation and structure, which include mastery of subject, organization of material, and composition; delivery, under which comes voice and poise; and a general effect.

... singing "Believe Me It All Those Endearing Young Charms" and "At Dawning." "The Bells of St. Mary's" and "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" were rendered by the Ninth Grade Girls Glee club, directed by Miss Glancy and accompanied by Margaret Locket. Genevieve Moulds played a piano solo.

Santiago park will be the location of a gala party Saturday evening, March 4, when approximately 42 students will attend the event, in charge of seven hostesses, Maxine Bird, Geraldine Tway, Janice Winbigler, Lorraine Morrison, Elizabeth Brown, Virginia Ryan, and Joy Harris.

Dancing, skating, tennis, and punchboard games will feature the evening, while special entertainment will be provided by Janice Winbigler, who will play a piano solo, and by Jean Mosher singing. Those invited include Lorraine McLane, Jean Mosier, Betty Jo Froese, Sara Jean Burkett, Doris Lake, Ronnie Lewis, Beverly Russell, Betty Stocker, Alpha Van Natta, Rosalee Earle, and

The Golden Gate Exposition in San Francisco, a picture of this building.

Jean Hunter, Willard commissioner, was one of two girls interviewed over the radio by Mrs. Golden Weston, adult education leader, in the fourth of a series of broadcasts sponsored by the Girl Scouts of Santa Ana. Jean answered questions concerning last year's summer camp and described a typical day in camp. On the same program Mrs. R. C. Harris, counselor, told about the camp which will be held this summer in the Laguna mountains east of San Diego and Miss Margaretie Wolfe, director, made several announcements concerning a scout candy sale to be held in the near future.

Young Journalist

As the first of its special projects, the high eight journalism class, headed by Mrs. Vera Allen, instructor; Anne Watson, who assisted with the transportation, and Laird Ilams, reporter, made a tour of the high school shop where they were conducted through the plant by Willard Francis and Jack Reed, printers.

Among the interesting articles examined by the students were the linotype machines, the presses, the large printing press, the California job cases, the galleys, and the composing machine. Operations witnessed by the students were the setting of several copies of the school publication, the composition and printing of some signs for the "Echo" office, and the saving of several proofs.

Eighth Grade Girls

An eighth grade girls' singles tennis tournament, played to give a eighth grade girls a chance to play against someone with the same ability as themselves and to give their skill at this sport, is being sponsored by Miss Wyllys Anderson, girls' athletic instructor, who remarked that the players, if they keep up in tennis, will be an excellent choice to make the Girls' Athletic club.

The reason for this eighth grade tourney is that I can have some idea of the ability of the on-coming ninth graders, and to encourage those whom I see have outstanding possibilities," Miss Anderson remarked.

The girls who have signed up for the singles tournament include: Jean Mosher, Virginia Graupenberger, Elizabeth Brown, Dorothy Brush, Maxine Bird, Mary Olive Tozier, Elva Martin, Lorraine Morrison, Betty Webb, Mildred Burke, Neva McTight, Marjorie Ezzatt, Doris Erwin, Helen Carpenter, and Joan Federbusch.

Honors Society Plans

Mrs. Maurine Scott, sponsor, of the Willard Honor Society, at the first meeting of the semester when plans for the annual excursion were discussed, with Mrs. Scott making a plea to the group for cars to serve as transportation. Members of the organization were informed that they will be excused the last period on Thursdays instead of Mondays. Also, orders for the newly arrived honor

A CONSTRUCTIVE MOVE

The proposed bill, suggested by Superintendent Henderson, to have the Board of Education members retire at different years, instead of all retiring simultaneously, seems to be a very constructive move.

It would seem, in the long run, that the members could render better service by having part of the old members on the Board while new ones were becoming acquainted with the laws and customs governing the Board.

Anything that will promote better educational institutions is of the utmost importance.

A SURVEY OF CONFIDENCE

Capital markets remain stagnant and little money is available for the development of new enterprises because the majority of American investors are uncertain and fearful of the future. This is the net result of a recent poll in which three thousand investors from all sections of the country were questioned. Excessive taxation and ill-advised legislation of a punitive nature are largely responsible for the existing fear and uncertainty, according to the poll.

All of which serves to confirm two significant facts: Economy in government, not more taxes, is the only sound solution to the deficit problem; second, experimental or radical legislation intended to benefit the "little fellow" but which in reality cripples the profitable operation of those industries which provide his job and his livelihood, is of no benefit to anyone.

Any brand of "liberalism" which destroys confidence, jobs, and opportunities while simultaneously leading the country further along the road to bankruptcy, is bound to cause fear and stagnation of activity.

CLASS DISTINCTION IN HIGH SCHOOL CAFETERIA

The high school teachers might think that it is very difficult for the pupils or the parents to recognize bad education, but they should realize that it does not take them long to recognize the fact that the children are getting one bill-of-fare and the teachers are getting another one.

In one way, it is rather surprising that the teachers are not democratic enough to be willing to live on the fare for five meals out of twenty-one which the children of the parents are obliged to live on. But, on the other hand, most of the teachers believe more or less in the totalitarian state and, naturally, Stalins, Hitlers and Mussolinis expect to have the fat of the land and let the people who are outside of the governing body take what is left.

But this kind of flaunting of their opulence might be one of the things that would awaken the people as to the eventual effects of the kind of public education their children are getting.

If the school authorities are not responsible for this differential in food, it is evidence of the disparity of income between those protected by tenure law and on the government payroll and those people who have to try to earn their living on the competitive basis to support these totalitarianists.

It is just one more step in the direction of Russia and Germany. It is the result that can be expected from the kind of public education we are teaching.

ARCTIC COOPERATION

The Scientists aboard that Soviet icebreaker drifting around in the Arctic Sea near the North Pole report an unexpected "wealth of living organisms" in the northernmost waters. They have found microscopic animal and vegetable life, which serves as food for higher life, in considerable abundance both on the surface and at depths of 10,000 feet. They observed a mother polar bear with two cubs as far north as the eighty-fifth parallel.

All this is interesting. Peter Freuchen, the Danish explorer who has written much about that northern region, remarks casually in a current magazine article that he expects the Arctic to be frequented by tourists before long. It has become so easy to get there, in comparison with the long and laborious travel, mostly on foot, of earlier days.

These Russian observations suggest that there will be something to see besides snow, ice and cold water. The Russians, according to Freuchen, are doing the best Arctic research of the present time. Furthermore, exploration is one of the few truly international activities. All explorers make their findings public at once and share them with all who are interested. Every exploring party has the experience and information of preceding groups to help it.

It is a pity that sort of cooperation is not applied to everything.

DANCE OF THE WAVELENGTHS
(Christian Science Monitor)

Broadcasting on other waves measuring less than one yard from crest to crest has long been restricted by the inherent limits of the radio tube as we know it. Now the stepping of radio down to shorter and shorter wavelengths has opened up vast new fields for useful work. The important step, from ten meters down to one meter, for example, provided areas for television, Armstrong's statless radio and an accurate aviation altimeter, among other things.

Researchers saw even greater possibilities below this area if only radio tubes would handle still shorter waves. Now comes an invention—the "Rhumbatron"—from Stanford University, California, which easily produces wavelengths down to four inches with great power and thereby promises to revolutionize the communication art. It may turn out to be the most important radio invention since De Forest invented the present radio tube in 1906.

Like many inventions, the new device resulted from work toward an entirely different object. William W. Hansen, associate physics professor at Stanford, was working out a new way to smash

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

SELLING DOLLARS

We use the words "spending money" very loosely. Spending usually means to consume, to wear out, to use up. So, in reality, we do not spend dollars, we sell them to someone else for what we want. Every cash purchase is also a sale of dollars.

We spend when we consume. We spend a pair of shoes by wearing them out; we spend a house by living in it; we spend a bottle of milk by drinking it; but we simply sell dollars when we trade them for something we want. We do not really destroy or spend them. We sell them.

This misunderstanding of spending dollars causes a great deal of confusion. Invariably these neo-economists are worried about people hoarding what they call dollars. They think that that is hoarding wealth. They do not realize that pieces of paper that are duebills for dollars are not wealth at all; that a man putting duebills for a million dollars worth of wealth in paper money in his safety deposit box does not destroy or consume any wealth. If does not do any harm to society as a whole. If it reduces the demand for consumer goods, it lowers the price of all consumer goods so that all consumers can buy more for their duebills for wealth. On the other hand, it makes it more difficult for the man who has obligated himself to pay duebills for wealth because he has to give more service to get these duebills. But, as a whole, it benefits one group an amount equal to what it harms another group. But these theorists, who never have made any study of business but who pose as great humanists, fail to realize this difference and they are very much perturbed about the man who is hoarding duebills for wealth.

These men do not realize that wealth cannot be hoarded and preserved any more than the understanding can be hoarded.

THE CURE OF CALIFORNIA'S MIGRATORY RELIEF PROBLEM

We read a lot about the problem facing the California citizens because of the expense of taking care of migratory relievers. The problem is very simple to solve, if the public will look at it from a practical standpoint. If we continue to look at it from a sentimental and emotional standpoint, it will mean untold suffering, misery and destitution.

The way to solve the migratory relief problem is to reduce the pensions so they are not inviting for people to come to California.

If this be done, then even if the Federal Government does take care of the migrants until they have become entitled to state relief, we will not have people, who cannot support themselves, seeking to enter the State.

And, if the relief is made low enough, our incompetents will move to other states and let the Federal Government take care of them while they are establishing citizenship, just as the Federal Government is taking care of them in California while they are establishing citizenship.

The problem is very easily solved if we want to solve it. But if we want to be conceited and think we are smart enough and big enough and "kid" ourselves into believing that we can take care of all the migrants who want to come to California, and those here who do not want to work at what they can get, we will eventually come to realize that instead of eliminating suffering by this foolish sentimentalism, we will greatly augment it.

UNDERSTANDING AND WEALTH

Wealth is something similar to understanding. If a man creates wealth, it in no manner prevents another man from creating wealth. In this manner, it is like understanding. One man's having understanding in no way prevents another man from getting understanding.

But the great mass of people who demand much of others and little of themselves are thoroughly convinced that because someone else produces wealth, it prevents him from having wealth. It not only does not prevent him from having wealth, but it helps him to get it.

atoms when he hit upon an idea which he saw had other possibilities. From that point two brothers, Russell and Sigurd Varian, the latter an aviation expert, decided to carry on experiments in the direction of ultra-short-wave transmission, particularly as it held out hopes for better navigational aids for aviation. The experiments were successful.

As to the name, the action of the electrons reminded the Varian brothers, of the dance called the Rhumba. Jokingly they called the device the "Rhumbatron." Then, to put a proper professional beard of dignity on the invention, they called in a professor of Greek. But he reported that though Rhumba might be a dance to them, it actually was a good Greek word for rhythm and motion. A perfect description, the name stuck, and we have "Rhumbatron." But more important, we have a vast new land of exploration in electrical communication opened up just when it was needed.

RELIEF
(Washington Review)

Relief grows on itself, thus following the rule which is apparent in other expenditures of public money.

For the year ended with June 30, 1937, throughout which the Works Progress Administration was in full swing, the expenditures of WPA were $1,899,000,000. In the following year, ended last June, there was a tapering off to $1,478,000,000.

But, there followed a speeding up, with a result that in the five months of July to November, inclusive, $964,000,000 was spent. In the corresponding five months of 1936 the amount had been $828,000,000, and in those months of 1937 had been $534,000,000.

For the full twelve months of the current fiscal year, ended on June 30, 1939, Congress has now provided a total of $2,203,000,000—the largest figure for any year yet. This record amount comes, too, in a year when the federal government's expenditures under the Social Security Act will reach at least $500,000,000 and payments under unemployment compensation laws of the states will for the first time become general and total around $500,000,000 more.

There are consequences of such expenditures. Among them are the taxes laid this year upon payrolls. Federal and state taxes upon payrolls are officially estimated to go this year to the greatest height yet attained—at least $1,500,000,000.

Come On Out—It's Just Like Spring!

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The mystery of the ship which sent frantic word that it was torpedoed off the Canary Islands probably never will be solved, but U. S. naval experts have some very definite ideas about it.

In the first place they say it was impossible for the message to have been faked. It came too clearly and was unmistakably a ship in distress near the Canaries. Furthermore, naval experts say all ship captains know how serious it is to send such a message. They know the expense involved to other ships in turning back or speeding up to answer an SOS. No captain would have sent out a faked message.

Naval experts also point to the fact that since Franco's insurgency, the Nazis have constructed two submarine bases in the Canary Islands. These are to prevent French troop movements from French Senegal, also to disrupt commerce between Europe and South America in wartime.

So the suspicion is that the Nazis were trying out some of their new submarine torpedoes on a lonely stretch of sea as an object lesson to the British. This, of course, never can be proved. But it is significant that the British Admiralty, which seeks no irritation with Germany right now, was strangely silent. And naval experts now are sure it was a British ship.

Communist Expert
Solicitor General Bob Jackson amazed spectators during his recent presentation of the Government's case against Joseph George Strecker for deportation as an alleged alien Communist. Jackson knew all the ramifications regarding Communism, had its entire philosophy on the tip of his tongue.

Later it leaked out that he had "bored up" on Karl Marx before the Supreme Court hearing by reading four volumes of the famous Socialist writer.

"I had to learn something about Communism in order to make an intelligent case," Jackson told friends. "So I went to one of its chief protagonists."

Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers prefers not to be called a Congresswoman. Her office staff speak of her as "the Congresswoman from Massachusetts."

Congressman Brewster of Maine is trying to persuade the King of England to make a special stop in the Pine Tree State to celebrate the centennial of the "bloodless battle of Arrostook." "We promise," says Brewster, "not to dunk him in Boston harbor."

State Department Counselor Fulton Moore, 80 years old this week, still keeps his charm and virility. . . . When a Justice Department lawyer leaves town these days, his movements are kept a dark secret. Intent on anti-trust investigations, he is afraid that corporations, if they suspect a visit, will strip their files. . . . Of all the U. S. citizens who traveled abroad last year, the occupation most frequently listed was housewife. . . . TVA officials got a smile out of the announcement that Tennessee Public Service Company would hold its stockholders' meeting in Maine. Recalling the Tennessee Public Service plant that TVA was hurting the "widows and orphans" who held its stock, TVA wonders how many widows and orphans will travel to Maine to take part in the meeting.

WLV Rules the Waves
Shortly after William J. Dempsey became general counsel of the Federal Communications Commission, with William C. Kopolovitz as his assistant, ugly rumors began to fly that they had been planted in this key spot by Charley Michelson.

Michelson is the one-man Brain Trust of the Democratic National Committee, also receives a retainer from the giant Cincinnati radio station WLW. Michelson is both too astute and too aboveboard to operate that way, but rumor had it that Dempsey and Kopolovitz were his stooges.

Back in 1934, WLW had been granted 500,000 watts of broadcasting power, making it the largest station in the USA.

When its license came up for review recently, Commissioner George Henry Payne moved to reduce its power, was supported by Chairman McNinch. Thus WLW dropped from 500,000 to 50,000 watts, still the largest wattage allotted any other station.

Howling mad, WLW-invoked a special clause in the FCC act and has taken its case direct to the U. S. Court of Appeals. FCC meanwhile has countered with a dismiss motion, questioning the court's jurisdiction. Drafters of the dismiss motion, and ardent fighters against WLW have been FCC counsel, Dempsey and Kopolovitz.

"Where has Charley Michelson been?" a friend asked them the other day.

"Never met him," replied Dempsey.

"Nor I," added Kopolovitz.

Roosevelt and Congress
The "respect" some members of Congress have for the President amazes visiting Foreign Minister Aranha of Brazil. At a Capitol luncheon, a Senator said to him, "I understand you have talked with the President. Well, I'll make you a bet that you couldn't get a word in edgeways, that he talked your arm off so you couldn't say a word."

"No, it was not so," said Aranha.

"Then it's the first time," said the Senator. "Whenever we go to the White House to tell him something, we get 'blah-blah-blah' from him for the entire interview. He doesn't want to hear what we can tell him."

"Boy Slaves"
Not long ago Mrs. Roosevelt had a private White House showing of a new film showing conditions in the turpentine industry. The movie is called "Boy Slaves" and pictures semi-slavery among tar, pitch and turpentine workers in Georgia and Florida.

Mrs. Roosevelt commented favorably upon the picture in her column. Thereupon members of the Press Club proposed showing it in the club.

This, however, met with objection from Arthur Hadden, president of the club, who decided that it was not for the delicate eyes of newspapermen, and issued a peremptory No.

BARBS . . .
News of an increase in mountain-climbing activities in Switzerland comes as a reminder that that's one country where they do things on the grand scale.

A college professor says that the rich are always inclined to accept things as they are. Well, keeping on accepting things is one way to stay rich.

Fair Enough

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, March 3.—If I were fixing to set a trap at the New York world's fair I would call it police headquarters, stick a couple of those green lights out in front and try to get enjoined by the mayor or the police commissioner. Maybe they would seize me for impersonating a police station, and if so I would get some loud, cheap lawyer to habeas corpus the joint. The publicity would put me over for one season, which would be enough.

We would have no cuff in our plant. We would be strictly No. 5. Martell Thompson is No. 2 sleeveless, and all the debts, both male and female, the broken-down society tramps of both sexes, the tablecloth authors and playwrights, the men-about-town and the whole class of moochers of the night side of New York would be barred.

We would announce that all customers would have to lift their eight, and that would scare them off, but just for a gag we would get up circulars of all the celebrities who are commonly mentioned in the columns dealing with saloon society, using their pictures wherever possible, and hang them on the walls of headquarters, offering a reward of $50 for proof that any one of them ever bought a drink. That would be a safe offer.

Their kind of trade brings publicity, to be sure, but what good is publicity if the free-loaders shove the cash customers off into the alcoves or crowd them out entirely? I just don't see how some of our night side operators get by with the mooching that goes on today. The scion trade, the bum society trade and the celebrity trade all create a large bundle of clippings in the course of a year, but I am not Mr. Zero and you can have that business.

I will take the tourist and the honest local yokel out for ten bucks' worth of Saturday night. I would treat them all right, too. I wouldn't kid anybody. I would announce that our regular $1.50 dinner could probably be duplicated for from 35 to 50 cents in any one of a thousand beereries around town and admit that the margin was the jailer's graft or lug—a familiar practice in most American institutions of his kind. Food is really a nuisance in saloon type restaurants, and may be after a while we would get down to the point of leaving a papier-mache sandwich at each plate or just painting a portrait of a slice of ham on each plate.

When people go out rejoicing they want gin, rum, rye, scotch and maybe a few layers of brandy for the small hours. We would keep some cheap champagne on hand, too, in case of couples out celebrating their fifteenth or twentieth wedding anniversaries with the in-laws and business customers.

I took a friend into Jack White's one night, and when this friend ordered scrambled eggs about 1 in the morning there was the damndest row in the kitchen that you ever did hear. The cook and the dishwasher poked their heads in to see what the guy looked like who was ordering food, and when the eggs finally came the busboy was two jumps ahead of the waiter with a whole tray of bicarb, bromo, bismuth and chewing gum.

I hear we have a place in town called the Fire House, but the Police Station would top that. For my part I have always wanted one of those comfortable police sergeant's chairs, canted some-

YOU AND YOUR Nation's Affairs

Soon We Fly the Atlantic

By ELIOT JONES

Professor of Transportation and Public Utilities, Stanford University

In the near future, according to present indications, the ships carrying passengers and mail across the North Atlantic will be subjected to active competition from flying boats. These boats will weigh from fifty to sixty tons; they will have a 5,000-mile non-stop range; and they will be capable of carrying from forty to fifty passengers, at an average speed of 175 miles per hour.

The fastest vessels on the North Atlantic are the Queen Mary and the Normandie, which make the crossing from Bishop's Rock to Ambrose Light (New York) in about four days. This is roughly one day less than the record established by the old Mauretania more than thirty years ago, but the Queen Mary and Normandie would have to double their horse-power, at a prohibitive expense, in order to lop off another half day. Dimeless, however, have repeatedly made the crossing in two days, and flying boats will have no difficulty in doing it in less than one day.

Flying boats will not only effect a great saving in time, but according to a study made by the United States Maritime Commission they will handle passengers at a cost that compares favorably with the cost by superliner. The initial cost of a superliner is estimated to be about two and one-half times as great as the aggregate cost of flying boats having the same carrying capacity. This is very important, because the capital cost determines, to a large extent, the annual charges for interest, depreciation, and insurance. So far as operating cost is concerned, the superliner will apparently have the advantage over a fifty to sixty ton flying boat, but as an offset thereto the latter offers a much spicier service.

The flying boat, being a smaller unit, will also be able to give a much more frequent service, and we may confidently look forward to a daily schedule from the United States to Europe.

The flying boat will draw its patronage in part from those who otherwise would go by water, but in part it will create an entirely new clientele. A twenty-hour service to Europe will permit a New York business man to cross the Atlantic, spend two days in London, and be back in New York City, before the traveler by the Queen Mary has crossed the Atlantic. Obviously, therefore, flying boat service will induce travel that otherwise would not exist.

It would readily be appreciated that flying boats which take less than twenty-four hours for the crossing will attract a considerable amount of mail and express, indeed quite enough to justify a daily schedule, handling passengers, mail, and express.

Looking into the future, flying boats much larger than fifty ton boats (carrying forty passengers), may be anticipated. According to aeronautical experts, boats of 125 tons, carrying 150 passengers, are entirely feasible, and will be built within ten years. The cost of operation by boats of this size is estimated to be much less than the cost by superliners. It is clear, therefore, that important changes in transportation are in prospect.

"It is for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out."—Spencer. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.

Editor Register:
People are the most interesting creatures on earth. They are more amusing than a cage of monkeys. In fact the only reason monkeys are amusing at all is because they look and act a little like people. We belong to the animal kingdom and like other animals are seeking food to eat and a comfortable shelter where we can rest and feel secure. We are as lazy as we are dare be, as greedy as we are permitted to be, and as honest as we are compelled to be. We are all quite sure we are fairly good looking, while the fact is the most of us are almost unbearable. We are the most vicious of all animals and fear each other more than we fear all other things on earth, yet within us is the essence of kindness, sympathy and love. Our actions are governed by our thoughts. What people think and why they think it, is an interesting speculation. This is where The Register Clearing House comes in. We learn what you think through your written articles and in a measure become acquainted through the press. That is if you sign your real name.

We like to read an article through without knowing who wrote it, lest we be influenced by some other article or connection where we did or did not agree with the view point of the writer. We find that most articles have a point in them worth wading through a conglomeration of words to get, even though we may not agree with it. But you can imagine our disappointment when we are finished to find that the writer is just a "Register Subscriber." Now I am asking you, how is a man to know anything if that keeps up?

If one writes to great length against the Communist and forgets the Nazi and Fascist we naturally would picture him a man wearing a black shirt quite militaristic and probably walking with a goose step. If he centered his attack on the Fascist and the Nazi and forgetting the Communist, it would be reasonable to think of him as a gentleman needing a hair cut with two or three days growth of beard on his face and trying to put something over by force. By this time we begin to get curious and peek ahead to see just who the writer is, only to find he is merely "A Conservative." That would make a man mad.

However, if he condemned all the dictators, called the President a liar, lambasted the editor in his own paper, substitutes personalities for principals and pours out on an already overburdened public his own personal grievances, we know he is a firm believer in democracy. He is really one of us and just as we begin to warm up to him and wonder who this distinguished gentleman could be, we discover he is only "A Tax Payer." Hold me boys, I want to get at him.

We can readily understand why one might indulge in a bit of philosophy and attempt to explain some of the deep dark mysteries of life, such as, why is it that a hog, although a little piggy at times, yet when he has his belly full lays down and takes a nap as if to say to the other pigs, "If there is anything left it is all yours, come and get it." While the dog which has a higher degree of intelligence, when he is full will lie in the manger and guard his bone or bury it, even though his brother may be starving. While man even though he has a plenty, gets a mortgage on his neighbor to compel him to divide his soup with him. He will spend his time and energy in devising instruments of death and destruction then goes out and promotes the murderous game we so politely call war and prods it on with a falacy we erroneously call patriotism.

If such a writer was asked to write an article describing an emblem to represent a real civilization it seems most fitting that he would say to take a hog, shave his face and smooth his bristles down, dress him up in a black or brown shirt, striped pants with loops going under his shoes, swallow tail coat, a monocle over one eye and a red flag tied to his tail, and have him walking through a rice field toward the rising sun carrying a banner stating, "We Consider Others." But why the writer would not sign his name to the article after he has it written is more than we can understand. We can't all be right all the time but if you have the time and courage to write, have the guts to back it up with your real name.

O. V. DART.

SERIAL STORY

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

BY LOUISE HOLMES

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday Susie accepts a splendid radio offer. She is still confused in her emotions, however, regarding Jeff and Dick. She is dating Dick.

CHAPTER XXIII

LIFE was so full of joy and interest, so crowded with new experiences and sensations. The most important ones continually escaped Susie, lost in the intoxicating jumble. She wanted to glory in Mr. Jasper's offer, she wanted to thrill to the dance hour with Dick, deep in her heart she was ecstatic over the prospect of Christmas with Jeff and Edna. New clothes, attention, the very consciousness of beauty—actually she was so busy being joyous that it was difficult to sort out and tabulate the various causes, impossible to drink deeply of any one happiness.

Susie's life was comparable to her diet. Small tastes of this, a tiny portion of that, never entire satisfaction. Not that she found fault. Susie was in a delicious state, snatching at life's gifts, hugging them to her heart, letting them go when her arms became too full.

After three hours in the shoe department, where hundreds of women milled about for a sight of Suzanne, for a word with her, Susie hurried back to the hotel and made a supreme toilet for Dick. Her hands shook with excitement, her breath came unevenly. When a florist's box arrived, when she tremblingly lifted an orchid from the shimmering mass of transparent paper, her rapture was tinged with tears. Had she realized the significance of the offering, that once earthy violets had seemed the perfect tribute for Susie, she would have been even more ecstatic.

She wore the fur-trimmed ensemble in which she had been presented to Mr. Harker, inner joy lending an appealing loveliness to her face. The orchid nestled in the fur of her collar, touching her cheek with a caressing finger.

EFFORT was rewarded by Dick's first glance as he met her in the lobby.

"I thought I must have dreamed you," he said, taking her arm and guiding her to his car.

Susie paid slight attention. Sitting beside Dick, slim and extravagantly garbed, faintly perfumed with a delicate, exotic odor, Susie knew that she had arrived.

"You're Hollywood, transplanted in ugly old Chicago," Dick said. "Chicago isn't ugly," she objected. To her it was fairland, the glistening background for miracles. "I love it."

"But you should see Los Angeles, Beverly Hills, Westwood—clean and shining, full of atmosphere."

"Another adopted son of California," she mused, not quite liking this turning of the back on home.

"You bet. And the girls out there—they certainly treat a fella right."

"Dear me—am I hearing complaints?"

Taking his eyes from the traffic he looked down at her with the well-remembered flash of white teeth. "Not you, Suzanne, nary a complaint. How about letting me show you off at the Hermit Club party on New Year's Eve?"

"It's a date," she said. Susie's joy blazed higher. The Hermit Club on New Year's Eve—only a favored few received that gift from the gods. Ah, the gods were kind—kind.

FOLLOWED two mad, whirling weeks. Dates and double dates with Dick and his friends. The friends gradually drifted away, Susie's preference for Dick obvious even to the smitten young men. Christmas Eve started at 5 o'clock with a cocktail party at the luxurious home of one of Dick's friends. Susie, with her simple background, felt a bit out of place at this party. She met Dick's sister and was snubbed, not much, but enough to make her wonder.

Had she heard Hester Tremaine's comment to her mother she would not have wondered, she would have known, might have been more pleased than troubled.

"Dick's mad about the common little thing," Hester told her mother.

"Dick's just having a good time," her mother said easily. "He isn't taking on a wife to support, not since your father has shut down on him."

"He seems to think Suzanne has money, and maybe she has," Hester shrugged. "Whether or not, I'll bet my next month's allowance she'll snag him."

And Susie, who had a more ladylike name for a woman, was definitely out to win Dick. She was so violently in love with him that she lived in a daze, one moment deliciously sure, the next frantically dubious. And Dick was overly attentive.

SHE saw little of Jeff these days. Except for the Christmas party, with Jeff making a palpable effort at holiday cheer, with Edna and John Harker deeply oblivious to everyone save themselves, she had scarcely seen Jeff.

She knew that Edna and Mr.

Harker were married on the last day of the year; in fact Jeff diffidently asked her to attend the simple service, but that was the day of the Hermit Club ball and Susie gave the Bowmans never a thought.

Dick had asked her to wear the Snow White gown and she gave thanks, it being the only evening frock provided by Harker's. Ready for the party she was like a perfumed kitten, drowsy with delight, tiny thrills singing through her blood. Dick's apparent adoration gave her confidence and confidence gave her poise. Utter happiness lent beauty where none existed.

Her scarlet mouth was a flower, waiting to be crushed, her imperious little nose added personality, her shadowed eyes were deep with the mystery of love.

Only one small incident jarred on the perfection of the evening. Dick poked fun at the party. Susie should see how they did things in Hollywood. He ruined one entire dance by minutely describing a soiree at the home of a prominent actress. Susie wanted to be impressed and was, slightly, until Dick inadvertently let out the fact that the party was a benefit of some kind.

"They do things out there," Dick said boastfully. "They lead and these mugs follow."

Susie, who had thought the Hermit Club party the last word in sophistication and luxury, felt a bit deflated.

"Why do you stay here if you don't like it, Dick?" she asked.

"If you want to know the truth," he replied, his cheek touching one of her curls, "it's because a certain girl has a strange hold on me." This was only half the truth. Dick's father had not yet seen the advisability of tendering a loan to his son.

Up went Susie's spirits. Dick often said things like that. Never had she thought he loved her, never had he verged beyond the indefinite, but small straws in the wind kept her blood at fever pitch.

"Maybe your girl would like California," she suggested daintily.

He side-stepped. "My girl is tied up with a radio contract," he said. Dick was much impressed with Susie's contract, especially when she naively mentioned her salary. If she made good—That was another reason why he lingered on, to see if she made good. Meanwhile the telephone calls, flowers, tea dances, dinners, first nights at the theaters went on and at last came the night of Susie's first broadcast.

SMOKING

Smoking for boys and girls is a bad practice. They do it only because they see the older ones smoking. The boys think it makes them a whiff closer to manhood, and the girls do it because they see the pictures of fine ladies smoking. No young lady of any public standing is ever pictured nowadays without her cigarette. The girls long to have their pictures before the public, and the nearest they can get to it is to be seen smoking in as many places, in as many attitudes as possible. It is all very childish, and rather sad.

Smoking soothes irritable nerves. It helps those who are in pain to bear it better. It helps those who are troubled in mind to get a little relief. Very good. Youth is not worn with worry, overwork and illness. Youth does not need a sedative for living. Youth needs to feel alive, thrill to its finger-tips, to laugh and dance and play and work to the limit. Cigarettes have nothing to offer that Youth requires.

The activity of growth demands plenty of rich, clean blood, plenty of pure air in the lungs. No young person of this generation need be told that his healthy growth and his success in life depend upon the kind of air he has and upon the power of his lungs and heart. Smoking does not help to keep pure air in the lungs, does not help to keep pure blood flowing through the veins. But it does hinder.

One cannot blame the children for thinking that smoking is delightful when every grown person they meet is smoking. The one who is not is the rare one. Young people think that what older folk do is the thing to do. Teachers and parents have to combat their own practice when they teach children that smoking is not for them.

Yet, grown people have the right to choose their own pleasures. Just as we teach children that they cannot eat the same food that is served to their elders, we teach them that they cannot enjoy the same pleasures their elders enjoy. If they begin smoking at an early age they are not going to have the same pleasure in it that they will have later on when they have completed their growth and have taken on grown-up responsibilities. They will lessen their chances for healthy growth, healthy thinking and effective work by beginning to smoke before their growth is seasoned.

It is idle to tell young people that smoking is a sin, or that it is poisonous, or that it will ruin them. They know these tales are not true. And we cannot ask grown people to give up the comfort they find in smoking to set an example for youth. Maturity has rights as well as youth. Teach honestly, that it is better for youth to wait and you may have a chance of success. The laws against selling cigarettes to minors, school children, should be enforced. The corner store in the school neighborhood should not sell cigarettes to school children. And we should do our best to teach health to all children, with self-control, directed toward health, as an ideal.

Mr. Patri has prepared a leaflet entitled, "Bedtime Troubles," in which he tells parents how to overcome irritability in children. Send for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology Department of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

"Boots" Goes To Yale

Clad in her own lovely gown, "Boots," one of The Register's well-known comic strip character, went to the Yale Prom at New Haven, Conn., on "Guest Ticket Number One" and there was much admired by all, including prom leaders Doris Berg of South Orange, N. J., and G. S. Smith of Philadelphia, Pa., pictured above.

ZINC SPRAY TREATMENT FOR TREES SUGGESTED BY ADVISOR

This is one of the best seasons of the year to spray citrus trees showing mottle leaf condition, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg. Wide observations over several years indicate that trees respond best to zinc spray treatment when applied just prior to the cycle of new growth, he said. However, good results have been secured following application at any time of the year.

"Mottle leaf is a zinc deficiency disease which can be corrected by spraying a thin film of zinc compounds on the foliage of the tree," Wahlberg said. "The foliage absorbs the zinc, which is used by the tree in the production of the new leaves. If the zinc is sprayed on prior to the new flush of growth, the new leaves will develop normally green and full sized leaves."

Zinc Sprays Cheap

"Zinc sprays are comparatively cheap to apply and are generally recommended for mottle leaf and little leaf conditions only."

"For moderate cases of mottle leaf, one and one-half pounds of zinc oxide and two ounces of blood albumen spreader per 100 gallons of water is effective. If zinc sulphate is used instead of zinc oxide, the formula is five pounds of zinc sulphate, two and one-half pounds of hydrated lime, and two ounces of blood spreader per 100 gallons of water."

"If the mottle leaf is severe, the above constituents should be doubled for each 100 gallons of water."

Effects Last Three Years
"It appears from the results obtained in Orange county that the effect of zinc spray will last about

COLLEGE POETS TO SUBMIT SELECTIONS

Many Santa Ana Junior college poets will submit their original works to First the Blade, California Intercollegiate Anthology of Student verse, it was announced today by T. H. Glenn, head of the jaycee department.

All works published in Tavern Post, jaycee literary magazine, will be sent to the Blade. Instructor Glenn said. Tavern Post is expected to make its appearance on the college campus soon under the editorship of Herschel Albrecht.

Tomorrow Deadline
Works of Santa Ana Junior college students have been represented in every issue of First the Blade since its founding in 1927. In 1935 the anthology was printed in the college Fine Arts Press.

Deadline for copy has been set for tomorrow, instructor Glenn said. This year's issue is being published by the University of Santa Clara with E. Francis Sanguinette as editor. Sometimes the book is edited by jaycees and sometimes by four year colleges or universities.

Prizes are awarded annually to persons submitting the best works.
